"I shall begin by saying every positive thing I have to say about this human. He is a socialist, and supported the right for humans to marry each other. I honestly am not sure why that would need to even be a policy, it just seems nonsensical that it isn't a given. However, that is all that I have positive to say about this human. As a filthy secularist and democratic ruler, I would have him sent to a labor camp, where he will be worked to death for the glory of the Omnimyth. Worse, he is a cowardly pacifist. Such creatures exist purely to be enslaved, as that is all a pacifist is really good for. At least I can know he will not fight back when my armies conquer his pathetic infidel land, to spread the great Truth. But even worse than any of that is that he supported a space program. This makes his nation a direct competitor to our conquest of the multiverse. This is an offense I cannot tolerate. All who dare to compete with our holy mission to spread the Truth of the Omnimyth must be crushed and defeated to never again be capable of making such an offense.

So, I shall see the human Anatoli Piesiyackiya enslaved in a labor camp, and I will have invade his nation, killing over half the population, steal any technology they may have, kill off all their scientific minds, burn their precious environment to the ground, and eradicate their language and culture while converting the remaining population to Evangelist Mytharicaun at gunpoint. Of course, this shall be enforced by the religious police. Give it a few generations, and the population will not be able to think of anything other than the glory that is the Truth. And all forces realign with the will of the Omnimyth."

Oswald's Mood: Dignified

"Truthfully I say Seine Majestät Friedrich's worryingly quick-wittedness will one day become a liability to him to attain his full potential as an effective Emperor. I say this not to be scathing towards him, as it is not my intention. But I won't deny the fact he did handle the scandals of his previous Chancellor well. But back on topic, it is a disadvantage for a leader to be impulsive even one who is living in a time where leaders and peoples do not have to fear the thought of bombs and shells dropping from the sky."

"Since I am only fit for the time I live in as he said in a previous comment, he too is fit for only his time. Should we switch places, however, I fear my fatherland would be no more and my attitude will not be popular among the liberal-oriented populace of his nation."

Her people, the Chiss, have already been tainted by the Antiway upon their contact with the Godulans. "Sera is a different woman... No, it's not because she's a blue dragon but she is so... emotionally fragile, delicate, and shows great restraint. That's the best I could give to a woman as I prefer the company of fellow manly comrades. Our ideals run in complete opposition but we share a common stoic philosophy: "live and let live" for those who are different from us... But I have a liberal application of that idea."

Could this be the beginning of a sane patron-path?

The Avant-Gardist State of Patagonia ~~~ Gauchos and Mapuches, orgies and parties, avant-garde art, futurism, syndicalism, the New Man, general strikes, the glorification of violence, spiritual nationalism, esoteric occultism, CIA spooks, Spartanian homosexuality, public sodomy, and more

Triomphe du Surréalisme (1968)

- There are many things said about Patagonia but few actually know what goes on behind the Andes mountains. Tales of human depravation and man's inner darkest self run wild. A place where avant-garde culture flourish and the artist don't fear the censor. Where all live bold and free under the gaze of the Patron. Yet all dreams will come to an end soon...
- Not expecting an essay. Just a couple of sentences that shows that you know my work well enough knowing. That is not to say that I am bringing them down, but it is finally good to see her again after meeting some folks here and there. She most very definitely has the spirit of a Valentian, I dare say even perhaps down to being anti-democratic, heh. Hey, it's not that we are cruel dictators; just that we don't see ourselves giving up our leadership any time soon, no? Anyway, she is someone that I really do would love to have as a friend, and someone I would absolutely despise to have as a foe, not just because of her powers, but because I don't see a reason why we should be hostile to each other. Oh, I really do hope that you take care of yourself out there, my friend. Safe to say that we will cross paths once again.

Valentijn "De Siertijke en Vrij Valkyrie General ov Valentine Z" Samantha Maxwell Delta Weston Stijn Angelus Tracey Mitchell Tristian Mamix Basilisk Lewis Hyatt X. Constantine Sein Lin Zaw Naing: As for Mr. Konrad, I really do pity his life. First his parents, then abandonment, then trauma, followed by many, many cases of attempted suicides. I can only sympathise with the man, for he has endured so much and yet Life and Fate have not been kind to him. (I wonder why Gwen did not intervene). Anyway, as much as I sympathise and take pity on his life, I am also concerned by the many strange occurrences and things that happened to him and his nation. Something is definitely not normal, and I did not mean it in the cliched "normal" sense. What I mean is that something is not right, like those movies where you know something terrible or horrible is controlling them, it's one of those "Nothing is scarier" bits with all the words and pictures glitching up. "Zalgo", some people call it. I wonder if Gwen could change the course of his life, though at the same time, I am sure there are a lot of variables and things that Fate herself probably won't change. Goodness knows what will happen if she tried to fix the parent and trauma issue, only to be followed by something else. I would say I am neutral on you, but your nation terrifies me in a new way. I have said enough, for I am being particularly chatty today. I shall leave you to your, err, inner demons, my friend. I really do hope you get better, if that is such a possibility, that is.
