I've always wanted to record my washing machine and make it into an avant-garde soundscape, but I've never found the time.

It already exists. It is called "techno".

Techno isn't at all avant-garde. Perhaps upon its inception, but certainly not nowadays.

I am not at all interested in immortality, only in the taste of tea.

Techno is definitely not avant-garde in any way, but my washingmachine sounds like any droning techno-album. It just goes on and on. The only thing missing is some german shouting "w-w-w-w-waaaaaash cycle complete!", and then it starts droning again.

You couldn't be here if stars hadn't exploded. Because the elements, the carbon, nitrogen, oxygen, iron, all the things that matter for evolution weren't created at the beginning of time. They were created in the nuclear furnaces of stars. And the only way they could get into your body is if the stars were kind enough to explode.

So forget Jesus. The stars died so you could be here today.
