I mean, we can actually create a mathematical definition for evolution in terms of the evolutionary algorithm and then write code to deal with abstract instances of evolution, which basically equates to mathematical proof that evolution works. All that remains is to show that biological systems replicate in such a way as to satisfy the minimal criteria required for evolution to apply to them, something which has already been adequately shown time and again. At this point, we've pretty much proven that not only can evolution happen, it pretty much must happen since it's basically impossible to prevent it from happening.

Stephen Marley – Made In Africa

"Ships that sail to distant places

Robbed us of our rising worlds

History says that you've betrayed us

Talking of the Gods you serve

Hear the rumbling in the sky

Tears that our fore fathers cry

And today we're still in chains

Take the shackle from our minds"
