Outside of the fact you'd get the death penalty in a court of law, somebody on the streets is going to rightfully shoot you and kill you on the spot, and that person is going to be rightfully rewarded for his service to common decency.

Ravaging the ecosystems can land you in prison for up to 50 years behind bars and fines of up to a whopping 1 billion dollars. Breaking the Ecosystem for fun lands you with the maximum sentences, a slap in the face, and a Desert Eagle shot to your balls.

AAN:

This is a pretty socially conservative country, so that could easily fall under "exposing minors to unwholesome content" or "manipulating non-independent individuals", the first of which can mean 20 years in prison, and the second 5 years.

AN cause I got ninja'd:

Depending on the extent and the animal abused, it could be "animal abuse" (up to 5 years in prison), "severe animal abuse" (up to 10 years), "harm towards endangered species" (up to 10 years), "damage towards property" (up to a year), or "harm towards animal companion" (up to 20 years).
