What happens when you cross anime powers and overpowered leaders with furies, all written by a bored Homestuck fan with too much time? Well, you get Rumei. A multiethnic, FT republic with both might and magic that let it conquer the entire Orion Arm.

A 7.6 (this is probably outdated but I can't do the calculations rn) (Tier 9, Level 6, Type 9) according to this index.
Come to The Orion, we got CULTURE and FURRIES

Show Recommendation: Cobra Kai. It is very, very good.
IC Name: Roman Republic, or simply Rome (Rumei). Occasionally called the Ignisian Republic. Current year is 2697.

"Alas, finally a fellow atheist. And yet, sadly it seems you too are filled with delusions that things you do actually matter. You as well, Hiuthames, are infected with this mental disease called 'giving a shit'. Conservatism? What are you spending so much of your limited energy trying to conserve? Pointless ideals, that's what. Folktales created by your species to cope with the fact that there is no meaning, there is no point to anything. Beliefs have no place in the cold cosmos that is reality. Nothing anybody does has a point, stop kidding yourself. The sooner you can get over this, the sooner you can stop being a fucking child. I would have thought an atheist of all people would understand this, but I suppose not. Until you learn this important lesson, you're just a gigantic shit sandwich sucking up to even bigger shit sandwiches. Just face it already: nothing you do matters, and eventually you will die."

That stood united under our great Emperors since the beginning. It just breaks my stature when I am faced with sadness such as Chi's story of love turned into a tragedy. I wish she wasn't faced with a lost, nobody should, in a ideal world, but all will, always will. Some by my hand as I desire to take back what rightfully belonged to my people. It's a cruel fate, indeed. But otherwise we all must carry on and embrace for the next act of cruelty throw at us by life. I wish Chi well and give my condolences to her lost."

"I thought for a moment that Shandong was a figure of alternate history, but he actually is a true historical figure. I guess civil wars have always created larger than life characters. Do I count as one of them then? Even if I'm physically the opposite of him

My actual opinion of him is negative, but honestly I don't really care for the rights and prosperity of Chinamen. Whether they slavishly subject themselves to a military or party-led dictatorship is pointless to me, though I guess China would be weaker if it's controlled by warlords. So, I guess I rather would have it divided by warlords than united as a superpower.

Admittedly, he reminds me of some of the gang thugs who rose to prominence defending the Pacific Union against the RCAS in the 2nd American Civil War, except they were far more brutal than he ever was. That and they really didn't reverse a drought with artillery fire. Kind of was their downfall considering how desertified California was."

- [Cassidy F.G. Pickett] - Captain-General of the Confederate Continental Citizen Forces

Ninja'd, let me make a post.

"The fuck, I thought you guys were called Skyhooked. What the hell happened? Well, I personally oppose Shawn's hedonism, even if he claims that it's okay for his society. I've seen what drugs have done to the people of America, and this has made me see them as more of an issue to society. I saw perfectly good people turn into deformed versions of themselves, killing themselves slowly with drugs. It was a silent killer of America, and one that I gladly helped slay. Not through prohibition, but through rehabilitation and removing the origin of the drug trade. The immortality process also made drugs a lot harder to take and removed a lot of their addictiveness.

Now, I'm no teetotaler nor do I want to spoil people's fun, but people who are on hard drugs seriously need rehab. And, people who are addicted to the softer stuff need rehab.

Oh wait, I should try to talk about Shawn himself. Well, he's some muscular action hero, which make it hard for me to really sympathize with him. I don't know, I just have a problem with them.

His economics are...a more crude version of what the RCAS has become. That and a lot more laissez-faire in most instances.

His moralistic interventionism ironically reminds me a lot of the Christian fundamentalists' foreign interventionism, except with Christianity replaced by anarchistic ideology. As long as his crusade doesn't threaten the RCAS or the rest of the Occidental world, I'm fine with it. I can even see it as being useful against the machinations of the Chinese.

Then again, I did engage in foreign interventionism myself, even if I'm not the one who unilaterally made the policy a thing. I helped socialist revolutions in Latin America to secure good relations with the new governments and to prevent Brazil from becoming a superpower. I fought the biggest war in human history against Azania. A war that I pushed for because I saw it as a monster I created. The Democratic Party even split into Peace and War factions over this, but I think the era of warfare seems to be over. Azania is thankfully crippled, Brazil has been contained, and now the Soviet Union is joining the Occidental World. I hope that America never ends up in war like the Great Bush War ever again.

Fuck, I don't know what else to say about him. I talked about him before. I guess I am getting annoyed how he keeps bitching about my racism, but that's literally everyone here. Apparently, the multiverse is filled with retards who suck."
