Frievolk:

Their size is 36 million km², their population is "only" 200 million people, which is very few for such enormous size. Belgium and Netherlands belongs to the royal family, and that's is unique fact. Their military factbook is so well done that I also want to write a military factbook now.

Firstly, they have a flat tax rate that is set at 13% according to their constitution.

Secondly, both the President and Queen are called Spock, who are both the third sets of Spocks.

Third, they get their troops from their colonial holdings.

One of their holidays, the Summer Celebration, held on the 21 June is usually celebrated in the western districts (I only brought this up because our glorious Ultimate Supreme Leader's birthday is the same day).

Also, the culture in the cat republic is influenced by a mixture of Russians, Japanese, and other Cat tribes. Although, they tend to be more influenced by Russian tradition, such as Orthodox and the old Tsarist ways in terms of hierarchy.

The name Valentine Z was thought up by General Valentijn himself, right after Valentine's Day. The name is designated to be synonymous with the day of the lovers, which is expanded into the context of the entire nation, and ultimately the world itself. The basic notion is to create a nation that will solve conflicts through peaceful means, and in peace time, to create and nurture the nicest and most caring populace.
