no srslly, why are they mad at you?

When it comes to this thread in particular, it's because Nationalist Northumbria has a tendency to cause massive arguments in this thread due to them having a history of constantly bringing up the fringe political movement they support in this thread (and their insistent belief that it is anything other than a fringe political movement) as well as the general arguments that sprouted whenever people criticize their infamously low-quality RPing (most infamously their 'Munkcestrian dodging' 'tacting' AKA thinking people can somehow dodge a goddamn bullet being fired at them).

Also can't forget their tendency to immediately show up in this thread as soon as someone vaguely talks about them at all or if someone mentions Northumbria.

Ah, you summoned them here again with the (hopefully failed) beginnings of yet another argument. That aside... We already covered the summerposter cliché, what about the "immortal summie" thing, where instead of bugging off into the void and letting their nations CTE, they just stick around (somehow) and refuse to develop their writing beyond the basic, low effort junk like-

Sends 80 billion infantry into ur base

Also nukes ur country

Or...

(AN) is scary because I don't like the flag.

Users that write in their factbooks about their nation as these huge-ass superstates and better yet they make sure to sound huge in their names. (e.g., The Federation of Afroeurasia).

The Imperial State of Ateria

Mixing elements of Pahlavi Iran and North Korea together; like both South Korea and Japan, the Imperial State does not have laws that protect nor recognize LGBTQ+.

Cliché: Me continuing to not understand why the hell you people started calling shitty RPer's 'summerposters'. Summerposters is supposed to refer to the dipshit high schoolers and middle school students who pathetically try and troll this site during summer break dammit.

Just call shitty RPer's what they are - shitty RPer's (or noobs if you want to be 'polite').

Terms evolve, calling someone a summie is an basically the same as calling them a shitty RPer/low effort poster. Good blanket term imo

Better than getting a flat out warn from moderation over insulting others or flamebaiting if taken far enough.

Plus it gets the point across much more quickly and concisely than "you are straight up awful as a human being, your posts are garbage, you are garbage-" and so on.

From experience, I had no idea about etiquette or anything really, so honestly, just remind them of it politely first, and if it doesn't get to them, keep your cool, if they respond petulantly/rudely (e.g., Ashtou), then uh ur choice

Is people who take in character conflicts as OOC conflicts a cliché? I swear, there are quite a few people who take political and military conflicts against their nation and turn it into OOC drama. Surprisingly, the state of Tinpotia saying Liberalian Republic is terrible idy is not an out of character insult.

This isn't a cliché that's totally dead but many years back it seemed like almost everyone would put their nation's current DEFCON status in their sig for some reason.

If it happened (or peaked) in 2014, then I might have a very good guess as to why (along with the fantasies that might follow). Something to do with the recent events that started back then.

Speaking as someone who did it at the time, it spread because nearly everyone had it in their sig.

A cliché would be people treating furies, SJWs, or bronzies as serious political issues. (Especially the middle one, because clearly blue-haired TERFs are a bigger issue than - idk - global warming, homelessness, etc.)

Western comfort and its consequences have been a disaster for politics.

I don't think I've seen anyone with the story of the "X" fandom being persecuted by their secret police. So I wonder where the cliché is.
