Unless with consent (very unlikely,) then the defendant, outside of lawsuits can land himself in prison for up to 3 years on defamation if the victim(s) are above the AOC. If lower, then it is balanced by more years in prison for the crime.

The company in question is nationalized, and all person behind the company decision is going to be trialed in the court. They have violated the Consumer Protection Act, and they're going to;

- a) being barred from being allowed to make a company ever again,
- b) do 4 year community service and 2 year in detention centre, and lastly;
- c) be given a fine proportional to their income before (150% to their income)

That's very broad. Minor drug runners will get off easy with a few months labour camp and societal rehabilitation/indoctrination. Middlemen might face several years to a lifetime of labour camp. Leadership and cartel hitmen are considered to have voluntarily removed themselves from society permanently and do not enjoy even basic rights. They're declared outlaws and quickly dispatched if successfully apprehended and ID confirmed.

That's a hate crime, and that's a paddlin'. Kidding, it's ten years of indentured servitude to a Jewish person or family and a lifetime wage attachment that funds Jewish causes and organizations.

Depends on which type. If not inappropriate type people are going to tell you to stop goofing off and get back to work.

If uh... that type, then if the parties are consenting you are going to be thrown in your private quarters with a soldier telling you to "get a room both of you" if one is not consenting then it's a 5 year prison sentence with hard labor. If one party is a minor then an indefinite prison sentence.

Defacing a statue of the leader.

Depends on what you're exhorting them to do. Usually, it's no crime but if you force them to do something dangerous, you could be stripped of your government rank and sent to prison for up to 20 years.

Hacking the government servers and cutting off power to the entire nation for a week.
