The empire actively works with the black market and really only monitor it to make sure that no rebels are getting access to weaponry. They work with the black market because it is for them both more secretive and cheaper than legal means.

The King-Emperor, Matthieu XV, was born in the summer of 1896 to the count and countess of Courrone, and was considered highly unlikely to inherit the throne due to the order of succession.

While Daohuihe officially styles itself as a socialist nation, its economy is still heavily reliant on private industry. The state primarily exerts control over industries that could be considered environmentally hazardous - most other facets are left up to the private sector.

apparently, homosexuality was decriminalized in 1795, something that would be quite progressive and probably impossible for a nation of the time to do. This was most likely because the king after the one who decriminalized was most likely gay or bisexual with there being numerous pieces of evidence to prove this.

They have a rather swell leader template. Well done!

I'm just a simple man trying to make a country on the internet. And yes I do not use NS stats.

The Democratic Socialist Republic of Karevka (DSRK) is supposed to be a stand-in Soviet Union, although with major differences like the allowance of private business (But the state is a partial owner) or the fact that they allow LGBT marriage. Kind of alternate history or alternate universe I guess.

They have a king ho played a very important role for their country in the Napoleonic wars, but still people thought that he was gay, or at least bisexual. Maybe it is just rumours, or maybe not, who knows if that Grand Duke was in secret his true love, only he, God and my Holy Grain of Salt knows...

Please try to make a little bit more of an effort, not just read the brief summary table of my leader.

Very well.

Their administration is completely undemocratic, but also highly meritocratic, with each organ of government staffed by experts in their field. However, the clergy seem to wield a high degree of influence.

The people of Christenmark pride themselves on their spiritual, God-fearing nature. Despite their country coming under international scrutiny for its lack of democracy, they are still patriotic in that they believe democracy is not a moral high ground. They would rather keep their current religious monarchy than have a democracy.
