The Federation of Pooshland was created thanks to the Operation Shepherd after an aftermatch where the empire of Swiessau ceased to exist due to the action of the Dومتex Industries. Then they created a constitution and granted civil rights to the people who were living there. The main reason of this war that ended with totalitarianism in Swiessau was an angry CEO. Cool.

I mean, the war was already in progress, Dومتex just helped Libearte, but this history can be a bit confusing, I guess

No. I read through the entire overview, having noted the fact that it was repeatedly stated that the government was not permitted by their own constitution to regulate business in any way, I summarized that bit under the comment of corporate pandering. Or mayhap government pandering to corporations. Either way, my assessment remains.

Just because a post might be short does not mean that it is devoid of content or consideration. I would thank you to keep that in fucking mind.

I'll do The Unfounded - it will be (technically) some sort of doublepost, but their post was very low effort.

They present as the first historical attempt of the English in overseas colonialism. As such, English remains their primary and only language, though indigenous culture has left behind lingering impacts in their own culture... which is curious, as that is not how the British "colonialism"-ed irl.

A "Feudalist Republic", Ritavia is a mix of Constitutional Monarchism and (I'm assuming) Merchant Republicanism with a strict class system, made of Naga, Neko, Human, and mixed (between either two of the three) species, though Human Noble Houses hold a lot more power than Neko, Naga, or any mixed houses do.

Interestingly, Barack Obama was a Prime Minister within the Empire of the United States until 2017, which presumably had different governmental powers to his OTL administration.
