Not even the most diabolical would launch a SCP-682 at someone. It's like a double-edged lightsaber, and not the one Darth Maul uses. Your hand is gonna be off as soon as you use it on someone else.

SCP nations in the first place are in my opinion a rather annoying thing. Instead of trying to make something unique people try and use things from one of the most oversaturated fiction genres currently. I remember when SCP was a niche thing that a few people liked and that wasn't flooded with kids who have never even heard of the SCP wiki or even SCP's origins and instead they just get all their SCP information from terrible SCP animation youtubers and bad internet references that have been filtered down by other people about 10 times until the thing they're referencing is so diluted it barely even describes the SCP. I mean there's nothing wrong with drawing from a universe that you personally enjoy, most of NS wouldn't exist if people didn't, but goddamn if SCP isn't an annoying trend these days. The overuse of SCP in general is a shame since there's a lot of good original work on the wiki and even on youtube that people ignore for "le epic 682 and 173 funny kill monsters".

tbh, yeah. like, there's some seriously great work on there (like the one that was the alternate site that was 90% exploration logs that I forgot the number of, that one basically single-handedly inspired me to start writing seriously in the first place when I first read it) and the difference between modern stuff and the series 1 "monstur kil" stories can't be understated. if all you know is CB and the yt shit, you're missing out. al gore.

There used to be an RPer (and Forum 7er but this is way before any of your times) back in 2016 who forced Sarkicism into almost everything they did, initially in a "wow look literally Sarkicism from the SCP wiki" but later on in a more subtle "yes, this reverse Gnosticism reminds me of something" if you were familiar with the source material.

I was going to try and make an Arma OP around Site 13 but sadly there were no decent maps for it and I was too lazy to assemble my own facility interior in the already slightly totally not crippled Eden Editor. But yeah, it was a good SCP with a lot of high quality written logs, and yet animation channels still came for it and oversimplified it into a generic youtube animation. You could probably read Site-13 for a good half an hour and still try and contemplate what was in it, but the animation crammed it into 10 minutes for the youtube algorithm that favours short videos.

Unfortunately these animation channels rake in millions of views and get away with making the logs boring generic animations that appeal to kids with flashy thumbnails that contain gore and death for clicks. Youtube lets them get away with it because they bring in a lot of money and are made by big corporate youtube channels. Even ones that people thought were innocent such as SCP Animated (the ones who shortened down Site-13 into a 11 minute cartoon) are subscribed to a single channel, GameToons, which now makes terrible "Among Us Logic" videos for kids with suggestive thumbnails.

Yeah, I don't think that it's actually possible for 13 to be condensed that small and still make sense. I mean, it's such a rabbit-hole and there's so many moving parts to it that it's physically impossible to not lose any details when you can spend thirty minutes just trying to make sense of the Olympia scene.

Or this:

They burned the Library, you know. Held it upside down like a can of soup and let the contents run out into the furnace, and burned the whole place up.

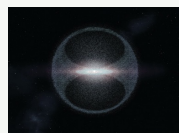

fuck i love this one so much. it's just ten tons of wtf-ery that shouldn't be possible even within the setting and yet it works somehow. also it's about the line going up and i like it when the line goes up

I think the most egregious example of this was when ZN dropped his wanked to hell 106 ripoff into a battle to try and win when the CHALICE force had a) massive numbers of expendable swarm monsters to lead it wherever they wanted and b) overwhelming air superiority enabling gunships to easily interdict his MTF ripoff containment teams. Sadly he got threadbanned for wank before the tables could be turned on him.

Synne would later get said SCP foundation ripoff to contain a mislabeled can of Fanta.

Also no one knows how to SCP-wank properly. It's always just le scary monster and not "if you know it exists you die instantly".

the only way to scp-wank properly is in a twenty-foot-tall mech suit blaring space jam dunking an undetonated artillery shell into a Nazi ghost controlling a mega-Ratte made from reanimated T-34s.

I actually had a SCP-crossover with my characters (or just one... actually) in mind, if I ever get around there.

Chief Aviator Gwen Tracer Hepburn "Fate of Existence and the Omniverse" Ellen Trixie Caitlin Foxworthy Avril Verlene Eveline Celinda Sammy Doris T-Rev Oxtan Arielle Lindall Leslie Vitesse Allison exploring further into SCP-093. Forget the Keter, Euclid, or other obviously dangerous stuff. I want to write more about this world with my own ideas! This empty world with the Unclean. I am a big fan of empty worlds, and the "Nothing Is Scariest" trope. ^^

Also SCP-184's properties are canon in Val Z.

Also, also, there are much more to SCP than just "Oh yes, we have the deadliest things that are uncontrollable." Which is not to defend the SCP-wank and rather, I think those nations should know that there are a lot more stuff to the SCP world. I personally love that black magical vending machine.
