I've probably spent about 180 days of the last 6 months listening to music:P

And I'm not really exaggerating.

Unless, you mean, total music play time. I've had music playing about every day for the last 6 months (Or year, really, and maybe beyond. Except while on vacation I guess, though even then I listen to music while down there a lot.). But even then, it's still probably around 60 to 90 days of pure time of music playing. Some days of Minecraft had no music (Until I started to listen to music while playing Minecraft), and I do go afk a lot. But my music still plays....if that counts. Even while I'm sleeping a lot.

Agent Fresco-Tempo.

Have you heard this one yet Azrael? This one's pretty freaking sweet. That guitar beat when it kicks in more....and that 'drop'{'?}' right afterwards.

And interesting random fact: I just realized that the end of this song, the last song on the album, ends in a way where it could easily flow into the first song of the album.

Yeah, I mean total music playtime. As of that post, I was at a grand total of 50.7 days total, almost 7 hours per song average and 1.7 days for one song.
