I've said it before and I'll say it again: NSG was completely different before the rise of the alt-right and was genuinely a tolerable board.

I mean I don't really care about the broad strokes with people's personal politics. I just genuinely think that NSG's culture in general is toxic af.

THE PEOPLE * ETERNAL

" We will not bow to your dictation. We are free. We bled to be free. Who are you to tell us what we may and may not do? We stopped being your slaves an era ago. "

South Reinkalistan is a massive, ecologically-diverse nation notable for its roving student militias and widespread hatred for the elderly. In the midst of a room-temperature cultural revolution that's lost its momentum, the Party carefully plans its next move. As the brittle bones of fragile empires begin to crack beneath their own weight, history's symphony reaches crescendo pitch. The future is all but certain.

Most of NSG is liberal, who are usually centre but centre-right when an issue affects them personally.

Yeah, we've got lots to offer! ^-^

What I like about Forum7 roleplay, as opposed to other forums, is that Forum7 has pretty low stakes. I can engage when I have time without worrying about being committed to something I can't keep up with later. And if there's a low-effort interaction, it's unfortunate but very temporary. I can always look forward to future interactions!

Though I would like to do a longer-form roleplay in another forum at some point. But I'm not as familiar with how those get started.

I agree entirely! RPs do require a commitment to see an RP to its conclusion, while F7 offers more casual, one-off interactions between characters, especially those I'm interested in but wouldn't want to RP with.

To be fair, I wasn't saying that NSG is alt-right (or even right-wing at all), it just feels like NSG's descent into being more negative (and more diquey) correlates with that movement's increase in popularity on the web and in real life.

Alternatively it could just be related to politics in general feeling more and more divided since 2014-2015ish, with NSG just being the most notable example of it here on NS since, well, it's the OOC board with political discussions on it. Not exactly gonna notice that political divide in Arts & Fiction or whatever, yeah?

I admire their willingness to do so much research despite most people replying to them basically ignoring their arguments and evidence.

One of the things that made me a bit sad was some nations seriously have 100% NSG + Moderation posts. Not even A&F.

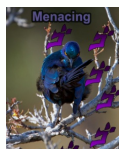

Look, I am not in any position, or in sentiment, to judge and tell someone what to do with their spare time. Still... come on, give RPing a shot. You will like it! 🤔

I also imagine that it's not very healthy to be arguing and mad 24/7.

I am more into f7, but I do occasionally go into nsg. For example, TET is in general, and the last one got over 500 pages. I am really into the Uyghur treatment thread, and as of now, it is agreed that China does not have the right to do the things they are doing.

Might I also add that NSG has Hasslehoff as a joke, a joke that I am so tired of, but do not complain. Anyway, who is Hasselhoff?

Just because you do your research and make effortposts doesn't mean you're right. It doesn't mean your solution is right. It doesn't mean people won't think you're an asshole. It doesn't mean that people are going to believe you any more that they already do. It doesn't mean people automatically will agree with you. It doesn't mean people will just nod their head and say "that's well written, I'm going to believe that." And besides, for every one of Kowani's effortposts, how many low-effort posts are made? A hundred?
