Politics is when my cool awesome leader does cool awesome things and nothing ever stops him and everything always goes right for him.

Governmental Budgets are when my cool awesome nation that reflects deranged RL political beliefs makes money out of thin air with no consequences or flaws at all and no economic crises occur relating to this magic money.

No you see Deep Battle of 1930's was

"ok comrade ivan ivanovich. you will now hold on to this BT-2 for dear life as it thunders through the fascist lines of trenches, infantry and machine guns. If everything goes well you will be deposited amongst the enemy artillery to bayonet them"

Yes, bayonet the artillery crews. Tukachevsky was completely in love with the bayonet... which is a very Russian thing btw.

You could, but the answer is easier than that. You plug in a few words into a browser, say... 'protest flag freedom' and it pops right up. Call it a lack of checking sources or something.

A tad silly, though recorded bayonet charges do happen in modern battlefields. On a bit of a funny note, the last recorded one was done by the british.

Looking that up, one of the things I got was this piece of my local news. Apart from that, I got:

- The British Hong Kong flag being used at a protest most likely in HK
- Black Bauhinia flag being used at another protest in Hong Kong, along with the city's official flag
