Pucifer- The Humbling River

The year's at the spring,
And day's at the morn;
Morning's at seven;
The hill-side's dew-pearled;
The lark's on the wing;
The snail's on the thorn;
God's in His heaven—
All's right with the world!

I started listening to the older Gotye album and I liked it quite a bit. Better than the most recent one, for sure. But there is a song on the most recent Gotye album that has a special place with me because it was very meaningful to me when I discovered it.

I don't listen to Gotye much, either. I just felt like listening to something more simple while I did some other things at the same time, instead of listening to metal and going through stuff I haven't heard before. Gotye is something I only listen to on the rare occasion.

And nice guitar solo track. At first I thought it sounded kinda soundtracky, then it turned into a guitar solo

Why thank you Bows. We have a pretty interesting music group here on NationStates, and our music can vary quite widely. One thing I've noticed though is not a lot of us here listen to things like the Top Billboard 100 Hits and that kinda stuff, and a lot of us like to listen to more underground stuff.
