Just... please, something more!

Gonna haveta be a bit of a nope there. This is Sarathress, who rather specifically considers purportedly sentient computers as a design flaw. Added to her generalized disdain of all things not An’Kaz (due to a function of experience), her responses to most folk are rather monotonous. In much the same vein, your characters’ responses often have an underlying pattern of ‘ha ha’ and ‘hi there!’, and after a while it can indeed be rather repetitive.

You may think it as lack of effort. I treat it as maintaining character.

Admittedly, this brings to light one of the pitfalls of RPing as a god-tier character. There’s little to work with in terms of character. Made me wonder why ya did that with... was that Tracer that ya turned into a god of destiny?

AN: “OH MY GODS, that scarf! That thing should be a war crime all on its own! My eyes hurt and I don’t actually HAVE eyes. In retrospect I should thank you for that. "Your average self-serving capitalist. Profiting from his proletarian citizens' misery and abdicating the responsibility of the state to ensure collective welfare, instead leaving them on their own against each other under the disguise of 'freedom'. While the overall assessment is negative, not all is bad though: I view positively his attempts to boost national unity and pride, police forces and the military, as well as his anti-corruption efforts"

Chancellor John Mercer

Wrote a response just a

Stanislav is a leader without meaning nor purpose. He knows only to concentrate his power and waste state money on cracking down on groups within his country that pose no real threat to his regime or long term groups. He is just a cog of mindless oppression and materialism, he is an empty man who speaks of revolutionary greatness but the only greatness is the emptiness that surrounds him and his abyss of a nation. Overall my assessment is negative.

Rapture City

- In the underwater city, two roles have emerged from the City's ongoing civil war: the City Monitors who defend the peace and the Red Caps who fight against unjust systems. The city's infrastructure is crumbling under its own weight and kinship is snuffed by the paranoia of totalitarianism. Yet the people would be in for a surprise as their virtual overlord have died many years ago as the oppression continues under his name...
- Not an 1-1 exact replica of Bioshock lore and Rapture City. Only the city's atmosphere and setting is maintained.

"Overall, Mercer's intentions are arguably noble. A machine, in the metaphorical sense of course, should exist in one's nation that helps disseminate the useful individuals from the useless ones. Of course, that does not mean the state should enforce what individuals can and can not do, think or say."

"Thus we've reached the age where animals walk amongst humans and no one bats an eye. Inkopolia is in troubled hands once the regency is abdicated for the 18-year-old Hotaru III. Her views go against the core virtue of Inkopolia, and everything the matriarchs put into place. She'll lead her nation to disaster, and I hope the Squids have the mental capacity of a human to restore a more competent one of their own."
