"Good grief, this is quite a mess. Is this man even a leader, or have a simply been given a file on a random civilian? He is? Well, he really shouldn't be. This society is in a state of utter chaos and disorder, people doing whatever they want instead of what's best for the whole, and he doesn't seem interested in alleviating this disaster. In fact, he seems to consider it to be a positive. And that isn't even getting into his nation's tendency to conquer and destroy other societies. Very concerning. We'll have to keep an eye on him"

As a leader, I can't say I'm particularly impressed by anything I've seen, and we certainly have our fair share of differences - the issue of economics, being one major point of contention I have with her. I can't say she hasn't earned her post, given what little there is to go off of, but my history with monarchs would have to point me in that direction as well. That said, she's not all bad. Becoming the second female leader of her country is certainly a massive step for anyone, let alone someone so young, and compared to other Muslim leaders I have to commend her positions on gender equality and gay marriage - flawed, but a step in the right direction at the very least."

We do not use NS Stats, policies, or otherwise. Please only judge us by what is in our factbooks.

An alternate history version of China in which the alliance between the Kuomintang and the Communist Party never broke down, eventually resulting in a federalized, democratic China. Though one of the world's strongest economies and an emerging superpower, China continues to suffer from high rates of income inequality, an overreaching and sometimes corrupt government, and cultural issues that continue to persist despite the efforts of many reformers over the decades. Most factbooks are still an active WIP.

Regarding President Lesharo Wiker:

President Wiker has gone great lengths to ensure the unity and prosperity of the Callianian Republic. His protection of the blue collar-class and infrastructure efforts have ensured a nation with as large a territory to govern as his own is continuously operating smoothly and reliably. For this I have strong faith in the Callianan Crona. On many policies, however, Monsieur Wiker and I would differ, but don't we all?

OFFICE OF THE PREMIER

Regarding President Mei Lifen:

Madmoizelle Mei is what we in Quebec would call "un irréaliste", a daydreaming optimist of sorts. With all due respect, she has the ambitions necessary for leadership, but I would hope she would consult more of her economic ministers before sight-setting on a Nordic Model in Asia. China has and always will be agrarian. Urbanising fast, of course, but still agrarian. I can't help but imagine that her drastic changes to the economy will do more than just run a deficit, but will leave the lower-working class behind. I hope she realises this before she makes irreversible changes.
