Typically up to 300 hours of community service and a fine of up to $5,000. This becomes more severe if the place you've been urinating is of particular reverence (i.e. pissing on a church's wall gets a more severe punishment)

Not a crime, such students ought to work harder and not blame others [especially racial and religious groups] for their failures.

Indeed, failing students who perform poorly is strongly encouraged as untalented students who remain in school are a burden on the education budget.

The penalty applies to the damage done.

Did the person die? Murder.

Was the person just seriously injured? Bodily injury.

Has the person lost a limb or been permanently disabled in any way?

Serious bodily harm.

Anyway, voluntary or not, you cannot violate the physical integrity or life of your little friend.
