I learned that Pol Pot's Kampuchea still exists, that Iraq controls Kuwait, that North Korea ""reunited"" the peninsula and that uh. There was a 2nd Arab Israeli War that went on for five years.

Our nation is Poland, but there was a great Nazbol revolution, which overthrew the PZPR and freed Poland from USSR, in 1993. The Iron Curtain still exists, but it has changed its borders.

In 1855 Cuba was sold to the United States by Spain.

The Jamesian Republic is an allegory for the United States of America. It has 48 states like the USA did from 1912-1959 and the Stars and Stripes mean the same thing like they do in Real Life.

I have learned from ANs factbooks that in their Space Race both sides actually made it to the moon. Though the alternate Americans did still win, the alternate Soviets still made it there shortly after. I also learned that the Alternate America has plans to return to the moon.

It's very similar to the US, yet, so different. Their space race for example is pretty much identical to that of the US, apart from the Russians got there too and some name changes. And their state map looks very similar apart from Dakota uniting and New Mexico and Arizona uniting.

Their world's current borders have some level of similarity with that of the Interwar Era, presumably because it wasn't Germany who started the second World War this time. The most important difference, at least in Europe, is the extremely reduced state of Poland which has lost nearly all of its eastern border territories -the so-called Kresy- which presumably was taken by the Soviets who gave it to Ukraine, Belarus and Lithuania. What surprises me is that Germany didn't move in to take back lost lands -like the Corridor, which interwar Germany really really wanted-, though that may be explained by the fact Danzig is German again.

Civilization broke around them and in Copenhagen, a cabal of world leaders met to discuss the situation. Sensing no alternatives, a German man by the name of Herrman Dyker took over and instated ultranationalism in Denmark.

The Avant-Gardist State of Patagonia ~~~ Gauchos and Mapuches, orgies and parties, avant-garde art, futurism, syndicalism, the New Man, general strikes, the glorification of violence, spiritual nationalism, esoteric occultism, CIA spooks, Spartanian homosexuality, public sodomy, and more

That they are essentially an Americanised Cuba that formed its own expansionist confederation after it seceded from their universe's Confederate States of America, and that it did not abolish slavery until 1902. Not quite what I expected from a nation called the "Caribbean Confederation", that's for sure the war between Mars and Earth was ended in very decisive spacer fashion- the Martians managed to get nukes on the Moon, which then led to Earth's capitulation. this... despite it going off the "if you rule the high orbitals, you rule the system" rule, is kind of confusing, tbh- one would think that Earth would have the capability to shoot down the shells while they cruised from the Moon to the Earth, given that if they're colonizing Mars and transporting troop formations on the scale of thousands of personnel one would assume they have scramble-launch capability for interceptor rockets at least within their planetary backyard. that is, unless the nuclear weapons traveled at a pace that could bridge the gap between Earth and the Moon at a pace faster than literal days.

very cool lore overall, and I love the setting, just one little stub-your-toe bit I found.

Instead of leaving people to hang or giving them scars with spurs, the frontiersmen of the future expose criminals to the elements...OF SPACE, before dragging them back in. It is a practice known as "cording" and most types of it, except black cording which is fatal, are intended to cause often adverse bodily injury as a crippling deterrence. Wonder if people's eyes pop out of their sockets like in Total Recall.

During their colonial era, most were immune to diseases from the Old World thanks to exposure to the Roman Empire centuries beforehand. Additionally, they managed to avoid outright slavery by the Europeans, though there were other consequences thanks to the European's imperialistic policies of the time.
