Same genre. Sleep and EW are both absolutely fantastic, I can't tell which is the better stoner doom band.

Here Today, The Beach Boys.

we, unlike the bourgeoisie, have nothing to lose and therefore our expression will be the only honest one, our words will be the only challenging ones and our art will be the one revolutionary expression. We need new noise and new voices and new canvases to become something more than the last poets of a useless generation.

Agent Fresco - "Paused"

They have a lot of cool, metal {ish?} stuff. Or, kind of everything. They are my favorite new band I've found at the moment. They have some pretty sweet beats. Considering one song reminded me of The Mars Volta and another of Wolfmother....along with them having a couple of mellow songs as well. The singer is definitely one of the singers I've heard that can do the most variety. He really challenges himself vocally. I posted 3 of their songs on the "Metal" thread, to you in response to "Did anyone find any good metal this week?", or whatever.

It's not metal, but I do like it. I hear a lot jazz influence. I'll go listen to those other three songs now.

There's some that sounds a little more metal ish then that one, but not entirely. I'm not sure I've ever heard an entirely metal Icelandic band yet, but give it time ☐ And I think I heard that there was jazz influence.

Agent Fresco-Tiger Veil.

This is the song that sounds more....Wolfmother-ish in parts. Not really my favorite of there's, probably because of that.

Agent Fresco-Almost At A Whisper.

Very short, and very relaxing, mellow piano song. Which shows part of their vareity.

The Ecstasy Of Flight (I Love The Night) - Chris de Burgh.
Wow. 55 plays in less than 30 hours.

I sometimes have my "One Song To Rule Them All" playlist play all night, because I set up some song to play while I sleep. I don't even want to know how many plays that gets.....

Listening to the same.
