"How the heck do ya' get to call "Fate of Existence and Omniverse"? Cuz I drew a pentagramm, and put a six pack of beers in it, and said "Facio, Voco, Ferre", but nothin... Gwen?! Is that one of your avatars in this pentagram? It's awesome to see ya' in good ol' Skyhooked! I hope, that on your way across the multiverse, ya' gonna come to our resort! Cuz how one can't like Fate, if she's that awesome? I don't really know! Either way, if ya' come, ya' can take this six pack of beers.

Either way, I am glad, that she's on the good side, and not just good. One of the kindest possible. As for Reset button... if ya' hit it, what will it exactly do to Skyhooked? Cuz it may result in a nationwide "Ah, shit, here we go again." for Skyhooked. So, should I get my wardclub ready for a fight with Edgar's goons, or not? And should I inform the population about incoming time loop?" - Shawn Bjornson

Rapture City

- In the underwater city, two roles have emerged from the City's ongoing civil war: the City Monitors who defend the peace and the Red Caps who fight against unjust systems. The city's infrastructure is crumbling under its own weight and kinship is snuffed by the paranoia of totalitarianism. Yet the people would be in for a surprise as their virtual overlord have died many years ago as the oppression continues under his name...
- Not an 1-1 exact replica of Bioshock lore and Rapture City. Only the city's atmosphere and setting is maintained.

I am familiar with the likeness of Emperor Narcissius, and I am certain that they have attended our party that happened decades ago. Nonetheless, I am voicing out my concern that we should look into his behavior a little bit more. No offense to Valentijn, of course, but he seems to have a degree of narcissism that is similar to you, but thankfully not to that extent. The Emperor, while I praise his limitless expansion and scientific technology that he is working towards on, I must voice out that he is still a very dangerous man for us, and for the rest of the people around if he is to go to the path of war almost all the time. My opinion on him shall remain slightly negative, and I probably should look over him a tad closer.

As for that particular fellow from Rapture Republic, I always have had distrust in him, and it is not going to change any time soon. I believe that Valentijn and Clarissa will be much more familiar with the name, despite the fact that he has underwent a change of some sort after our last encounter. Gwen has a much better explanation on the nature of the change, but that is not important. What is important is that just like the rest of the Aquarian leadership, Vonstein is still a dangerous person to the Valentians, and we must not let our guard down. He is not that bad compared to Chancellor, but that is like comparing that a razor blade is much better than a Damascus Sword. Neither one of them are going to be pleasant. Requesting additional espionage and oversights on them.

AN: "Well, if it isn't the multiverse's favorite time lord... come to think about it, I think he's the only time lord. Other than that physician... who? Who? What was his name again? Ah, never mind that. I do find that the Phoenix is a perfectly respectable man in his own right. He fought demons after all! Any man who fights those bastards gets my mug raised. Even on the dull matter of politics, I can agree with him. Fairness is a virtue, after all. All in all, I can only hope that his benevolent reign lasts a thousand years more."

Wow, man. That information is absolutely grotesque and I did not wish to know it, regarding your deceased sister. I've seen some nasty stuff in my younger years but damn, that's just gross and depressing at the same time. Could you cut that out? I wouldn't want to see a high official lose their lunch by looking over that fact. But otherwise, that's all the intel I can find on ya. Perhaps, next time, come back to this forum, when you have a little bit more to tell about yourself? I don't like to be felt guessing your rulership.

Rapture City

- In the underwater city, two roles have emerged from the City's ongoing civil war: the City Monitors who defend the peace and the Red Caps who fight against unjust systems. The city's infrastructure is crumbling under its own weight and kinship is snuffed by the paranoia of totalitarianism. Yet the people would be in for a surprise as their virtual overlord have died many years ago as the oppression continues under his name...
- Not an 1-1 exact replica of Bioshock lore and Rapture City. Only the city's atmosphere and setting is maintained.

"Umm, so a warrior, huh? That deserves a commendation of its own! That's ignoring the fact his people started the war in the first place. As for his punishment, I think it's a little abstract, and confusing as all hell in my point of view, but if someone thought it was a good idea then it must be, since so far he has been doing alright...! "Ah hello there. You must be the cousin of Sing in Stanier. I will say, your biography, at first, is quite lacking. But you can't fool me with that white text. You probably did that as an anti-noob approach, or to save money. Anyways, your conduct is quite interesting: You went to another nation to find a money man, while blowing up a valuable casino in the process. Do you know the amount of money that would be loss in trying to clean and repair the debris? Well, then again, I suppose he was acting outside the law. That car ring with INTERPOL, I suppose was also a good read. Though, you shouldn't be as silly as to assume that someone won't shoot you in the back. It didn't help with Alexander Hamilton. However, my opinion of you is quite positive. We could do with more men like you in our police force. Everyone thinks that getting along and thinking highly of their fellow peers is the way, but no. We need men like you. I shall look forward to your endeavour, good sir."

"No, I haven't found the keys to your car, you balding hack! Now, get out of my sight!

Well, this guy here is everything I hate about liberalism: unimpeded free markets protected by a centralized state or 'one law for all'.

But really, is he real? Or, is he fiction? His backstory is way too out there, especially the parts with-

Gah! Why am I getting an odd sense of deja vu with that Kokichi character? Is it because he looks white despite being a filthy Jap? Because, that's weird. Why am I thinking of...dumbbells again?

Wait, I know why! Dick Cheney was the Secretary of State during the Bush administration! That's why! That's weird that he's a New Zealander in his timeline. Then again, Kokichi's eyes are huge as fuck despite his Asiatic name. I can sympathize with a shorter guy though. And, I guess Japs could be tolerated for their role in aiding America against the Chinese menace.

And honestly, I shouldn't talk about people's backstories being out there when I'm a multicentarian brain-vat god who reunited America singlehandedly."

□No, it is not the Confederate States of America. No, it's not the South either. SU stands for 'States and Unions'. The right acronym is RCAS. Please read the Factbook.□
