Listened to a random song by them just now, because I keep seeing these guys recommended. Might be the most interesting rap I've heard, though still not sure how much I can get into them. Might need to give them more of a listen, though.

we, unlike the bourgeoisie, have nothing to lose and therefore our expression will be the only honest one, our words will be the only challenging ones and our art will be the one revolutionary expression. We need new noise and new voices and new canvases to become something more than the last poets of a useless generation.

It's difficult to recommend an entry point but, as Oterro said, Hacker and Beware are fantastic. Personally, my favourite is either Come Up and Get Me or I Want It I Need It.

I'll definitely give them a listen. I recommended them to my brother, too, since he's a bigger rap fan than me. Of course, he seemed to ignore it or something.

so weird that this should come at the end of a folk/black metal compilation. it's like post punk but black metal too.

Napalm Death - Success?

I mean, we can actually create a mathematical definition for evolution in terms of the evolutionary algorithm and then write code to deal with abstract instances of evolution, which basically equates to mathematical proof that evolution works. All that remains is to show that biological systems replicate in such a way as to satisfy the minimal criteria required for evolution to apply to them, something which has already been adequately shown time and again. At this point, we've pretty much proven that not only can evolution happen, it pretty much must happen since it's basically impossible to prevent it from happening.
