That's your mass.

Let's make that 3.17.

Also, I don't understand why it can't be over 1.4. Beecause there are plenty of stars with masses over that that can still have life. Also, what about a binary star system, or a star younger than 3.4 billion years? Also, what do you mean by "Max"?

When an astronomer, a physicist, was given the opportunity to realize his ideas.

Little Caesar's pizza rises up as a new clan and begins its siege, attempting to overtake Pizza Hut from the inside. Their tactics were extremely successful, but once it seemed like Little Caesars would take the empire, Caesar's own men assassinated them, leaving Pizza Hut the supreme leader for another year.

This feels like a fever dream
