One of their regions used to be an oasis surrounded by jungles.

The Jamesian Republic is an allegory for the United States of America. It has 48 states like the USA did from 1912-1959 and the Stars and Stripes mean the same thing like they do in Real Life.

The Pacific is called the "Poseidic" in this world. Not sure how that happened given "Pacific" just means "peaceful" and has no connections to any religion at all, but considering there's a state named "Mid South" it's par for the course.

Caleshans rely on fusion power as their main form of energy. The country has been extensively secretive as to how exactly they are able to use fusion power to an extremely efficient degree; nevertheless, it results in a tremendous and stable power output for the country.

In Marsoslavia, teen marriages and pregnancies are worryingly presistent. However, unlike under most governments the mothers aren't placed in a difficult situation of choosing between either continuing their education or focus on taking care of their children due to competent social policies and adequate family planning services.

The Orade/ARKS Fleet was developed in LH (Light History) 50 for interstellar exploration. In LH 500 there was an incident in which a ship lost contact near a black hole, but came back as hostile. More hostile entities, known as "Felspawn" were discovered in LH 600, being impervious to almost everything except for photon-based weapons. In LH 1000 the main mission of the Orade shifted to stopping the Felspawn.

Hatsunia owns practically all of Micronesia; however, unlike what this might imply for OTL Japan, this was acquired rather nicely- at least in terms of exchanging territory, as it was ceded by Spain in the 1890s first as a purchase and then as a result of conflict. The people of Micronesia are afforded a greater degree of autonomy than mainlanders, and are considered citizens. All in all they're treated rather well, I think.

Independent political parties in Baizou are parties that, while they are represented in parliament, did not form part of the Grand Coalition of 1998 or the WRB of 2004. One of these independent parties is the green party which unsurprisingly has a platform based around making the country invest in renewable sources of energy and limit pollution and contaminant waste in general.
