"Finally, fate has led me to address the Patron himself, which somehow puts me in a more enthusiastic mood than reacting to most leaders around here. I do not subscribe one bit into his school of thought or art nor must I necessarily approve his way of 'ruling' if it exists at all. What I do recognize is that his life is a piece of art that I have spent some time looking and analyzing and still have not found the exact answer to it. His 'degeneracy' does not repel me completely, as it is one part a reflection of the uttermost depth of human nature and one part the progress of human development even if it looks a lot like regression. Konrad Svoboda earns neither my respect nor my resentment. I treat him in similar light to Emperor Narcissus of Khoronzon: 'Ah, that's interesting but I would rather not do that at home!'"

PMT/Early FT - Decopunk. Zitragrad is a crowned republic in a planet somewhere else in the universe. The formerly wartorn nation keeps a facade of normalcy and order while enjoying the societal and cultural decadence that marks the new Roaring Twenties. The paranoid authoritarian government tries its best to uphold order in the face of uncertainty, while its people want nothing more than a breathing space. It also uses lore developed in the non-canon light novels Purple Haze Feedback and Golden Heart, Golden Ring, as well as the unrelated anime Black Lagoon. This also contains diverged lore, specifically that everyone can see and interact with stans, Giorno Giovanna never existed, and that Sorbet & Gelato never died nor investigated the boss due to conceded demands.)

AAN: "Dear Amaki's got her head on the right path. If I'll be perfectly honest for one moment, I'll admit that in a situation such as hers, one does not have the luxury to be democratic or compromising. When you're on the brink of annihilation, you simply can't waste time on decision making. Someone with enough fervency, drive and energy has to take the wheel and guide their civilization to relative safety, something Amaki's definitely succeeded in. Of course, I have professed that I am no admirer of dictatorships but when your survival is on the line? You adapt or you die. Ideology takes a backseat in this case but Amaki knows this better than I do. In such a situation, she did the best that she could.

In the thirty-four years of my life, I never thought that I'd find love across the stars but here I am! A much more complete woman thanks to Amaki, a void in my heart's been filled and it's all thanks to Amy that I live a fulfilled life! She might come off as an Iron Lady and believe it or not, she truly is but if you ask me, she's a cinnamon roll that just needs a shoulder to cry on. A proud and powerful lady. I'm glad to have her in my life!" - Ambrosia

AN: "Now, on the other hand, we have this disgusting creature! Gods damn you! You and your ilk are like a plague that ought to be crushed with no remorse if you don't know how to live with others! Listen up sugarplum, the universe is full of diversity. You better accept that or you can watch yourself get crushed when someone can't stand your shenanigans.

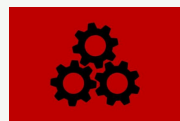

If I might ask, how does it feel being in such a position where you distrust everything and everyone, wishing to kill, maim and torture anyone that isn't a part of your hivemind? You know who you remind me of, you remind of the Skaven of my homeworld! They're psychotic man-sized rats that enjoy backstabbing one another. Is this simply a part of your nature or have you cultivated a society that embraces cut-throat politics? In any case, I am appalled by your rule. How do you live like this? Purging everyone that steps out of line. Simply put, your rule is not sustainable but hey, at least you aren't committing genocide yet..." - Ambrosia

Artists when not given direction make degenerate art which only exists to undermine society and he is the prime example of what that looks like. Furthermore we have read a few of his poems to see the actual quality of his works however we can not tell you the quality of his work because we immediately erased it from our memory. The only note we left for ourselves was describing the poems as 'it's bad enough to be used as a torture device, too inhumane for even organics' which clearly is a sign we should stay away from it. "As much as I appreciate his gesture of securing me and my subordinates... even at the bonus of immortality under the body of Assimilation, that would require me to forsake my identity and make it public. Alas, as painful as it is, I shall refuse the offer. I admire the Paramount greatly, but his offer would cost me something too dear."

"Kamile may not have combat merit, but she's made a few positive changes for her nation such as encouraging certain freedoms. Other than that, she is nothing noteworthy."

Current year: 2000.

Since 1985, Passione has been one of the most powerful mafia syndicates and organized crime forces in Italy, possibly the world, despite having as little a 750 members, most of them gifted with extraordinary superpowers.

(This nation mainly relies on lore from the anime/manga series JoJo's Bizarre Adventure, specifically Part 5, Golden Wind. It also uses lore developed in the non-canon light novels Purple Haze Feedback and Golden Heart, Golden Ring, as well as the unrelated anime Black Lagoon. This also contains diverged lore, specifically that everyone can see and interact with stans, Giorno Giovanna never existed, and that Sorbet & Gelato never died nor investigated the boss due to conceded demands.)

"Another disgusting xeno. This time one that fears the past. Pathetic. The past is a useful tool allowing one to learn from mistakes or be inspired by past glories. The past teaches us that xenos can't be trusted for any reason and that the Swarm is strongest together. And this fool fears those lessons."

The amount of sugarcoating you've done would make you entitled to a chocolate factory and this is just in, my sweet teeth wants to switch places with yours. It needs a taste. When 'taking proper control' involves bio-weapons, genocide, and forced assimilation, that sounds awfully problematic but then again, you practically fell on your head when you were 'born'. Of course, you'll have a few nuts and bolts in the wrong places.

Speaking of Zen, are your circuits fried or have you forgotten the number of times I've lambasted him for being a trigger-happy fox? You're rather premature when it comes to conclusions. Is that a common trait among the ancient personalities in your head? Do you have ADHD and schizophrenia? Because you've got hundreds of voices in that wafer brain of yours but you can't pay attention long enough to listen to any of them.

Put yourself on standby and stop tempting our brains cells to embrace the sweet release of death. Some of us need our brains." - Ambrosia

The unassimilated (and arguably, unassimilatable) Hand believes that the Paramount is constantly lacking in certain areas that the programming of it cannot overcome. It's okay Paramount, the Hand doesn't have genitalia either. But the Paramount is such a nuisance to everything it comes across, it might not be able to find a therapist helping to cope with its...man problems. How sad.

The Hand zooms around the world and crushes one person with its index finger every day. It is immune to all damage, and is always slightly faster than you.
