Geez, my cat is being super sweet tonight.

AND seriously asshole? I just heard fireworks go off...(I think). 3 AM? Almost a WEEK later?

The Residents-Boxes of Armageddon

Boxes full of Armageddon
Boxes full of death
Boxes sitting in my doorway
Boxes someone left
Boxes full of Armageddon
Boxes full of death
Boxes full of Armageddon
Boxes full of death

They were well worn cardboard boxes
Bulging from the weight of documents obsessed with mindless slaughter and decay
Boxes that depicted a sad reality
Full of fiction and reflections of insanity

I take this as a unique way of going about describing human destruction, in the form of boxes full of evil government documents signing agreements for war and crap or something.

Don't worry, my other cat is either super sweet or seems to despise you, so...

Though to be fair, my other cat also is either super lovey or if you try and pet her, she just runs away...

Since I thought of Amon Amarth concert, I decided to listen to Sabaton's cover of their Twilight of the Thunder God

The original is a bit heavier, Sabaton's vocals is clearer.

God is an Astronaut-From Dust to the Beyond

At least back in the day, these guys rely less on generic crescendo post-rock and focus more on shorter post-rock songs that feel more like normal rock songs without the generic slow plodding into a generic crescendo like a lot of bands do. Which is what makes them a highlight to me.

Not to say they don't have that. But even they seem to go for more of a direct approach, instead of slowly developing into something massive. Their 2nd album, which was the first one I listened to by them, was one of my first post-rock albums beyond Sigur Ros (Explosions in the Sky being there somewhere), so it has a special place with me, anyway. But even that one is a more tolerable style of post-rock, even if it may be closer to "Generic post-rock". Still not as freaking generic as some of this crap.

One flaw with this album is that it does kinda end up sounding samey after a while.

Michael Heart - We Will Not Go Down (Song for Gaza)

Heart made this song in support of Palestinian civil victims of the 2008-2009 Gaza War. The current troubles in Gaza made me want to play this song.

CVT Temp wrote:
I mean, we can actually create a mathematical definition for evolution in terms of the evolutionary algorithm and then write code to deal with abstract instances of evolution, which basically equates to mathematical proof that evolution works. All that remains is to show that biological systems replicate in such a way as to satisfy the minimal criteria required for evolution to apply to them, something which has already been adequately shown time and again. At this point, we've pretty much proven that not only can evolution happen, it pretty much must happen since it's basically impossible to prevent it from happening.
