Everything beyond the Missisipi does not exist.

Given the shape of the world, is not literally everything beyond the Mississippi if you keep going far enough - even the Mississippi itself eventually?

Ok, that makes sense.

Anyways...

Did you know that IRL persian is a part of the Indoeuropean language family?

here is some words:

per. 'behtar' = better

per 'bad' = bad

per. tu = germanic du (eng. thou)

and many more!

They are pronouced similarly and all have the same meaning. also,
these are not loanwords. They have root from the same place.

I allways find this interesting

Dihydrogen monoxide is overrated. Addicts will tell you that 'you can't live without it'.

What they don't tell you, is that dihydrogen monoxide has a higher Pontus-hydrogenii (PH) value than all acids!

It's also a greenhouse gas and It's used in nuclear power plants!

how shocking!

does something really cool
