An audio record simply plays Jones' pre-recorded audio record of him condemning the Queen - the monarch of Guyana as a Commonwealth realm.

Audio Record Sermon No. 7

"And who is thou that has sullied the Queen's name? I remember Elizabeth, she's a nice woman and someone who I could tolerate as a good Christian woman. But you are a slut for those rich Gulf princes who's humping down up and down like a carrel! Why is a Christian girl sleeping in a bed with a Mohammedan is beyond me. But all I know is that she's a whore."

"Come on, brothers and sisters, this is the enemy of Christianity! Traitors!"

"In the background, you can hear men and women of the Temple chanting whore and slut at Alexandra as Jones gleefully smiles at them"

*Don't comment on what you know about Jones in real-life, read the actual dispatch.

Me and my friends here, today, we are going to talk about you, and your character, and maybe your life. Now guys, check this dossier out. I have sent these to your respective devices, so please do take a read, and give your opinions on this man. I personally think that is a little bit nuts in the head, simply put. I thought our history was different or insane enough, but this man goes on to prove otherwise, I am afraid. Why kind of world did you create for yourself? I know I am talking to a recording, but still, this is genuinely creepy. Mein Gott.

[Valentina "De Sierlijke en Vrij High Valkyrie ov Valentine Z" Anastasia Freya Ada. Jolin Annelijn Caitlin Trijntje Crystal Clarice Constance Judy Voi. D. I will start off with the Forward letter that is attached to the dossier, something about the mass suicide that cost nearly a million lives. Well, around fifty-six hundred thousands it seems, and there are children inside there too. Words have failed to describe on what kind of a world you have lead to your people, like Valentijn said over here. His mind is an enigma, I heard, and he seems to be a faith-healer. Unfortunate.

Chief Aviator Gwen Tracer Hepburn "Fate of Existence and the Omniverse" Ellen Trixie Caitlin Foxworthy Avril Verlene Eveline Celinda Sammy Doris T-Rev Oxtan Arielle Lindall Leslie Vitesse Allison: A lot of blanked out details, ah, that's rather typical, I will have to say! It's unfortunate that the rest of you will not know, but I think I do! Trust me, I don't think you guys want to know the details. There is a very, very special and important reason why this document is already censored, and you will see that it is not because of secret weapons, or plans, or anything like that. It was, it was rather gruesome, and disturbing. I might need to make a trip to there.

Major Layla Jamie Stefanie Symmantra Evangeline Jaiden Autumn Celeste Jane Justine Emma "Shen, The Bringer of Light" Samara Kaitlinn Char Madelief Kat Mvst Astrella Janice Lim Tian Zhi: This is unfortunate, as Valentina as said, because without the evidence of the actual existence of magic, you lead your people blindly and told them to commit a mass suicide. For one, let me emphasise that it is disgusting. For two, it is no wonder that the top and utmost people in your world cannot discover your true intents. You are a very, very strange enigma. An admirer of my country's most controversial times - the Mao Revolution. I should've known.

I am afraid that I don't want to know the answer to that. Your nation, pardon me for talking to a recording, is based upon death, destruction, and misery of countless numbers. "For the only cult allowed is a cult of personality for America and its ideals." Very blind move.

2nd Cpt. Annabelle Grace Whitney Zoey Luminisa "Femeia Simțurilor Extraordinaire" Claire Estevi Danielle Tricia Kate Carrie Kora Costiniu

Frumoasa Emiliana Georgeta Melanie Ioannes Corinna: If Valentijn and the rest of my Valentian friends are to be believed, and I really do believe them, this world is an enigma, and goes to show how dangerous a person's mind truly is. We tend to take safety for granted, and we have trust on each other for as long as we live, that is for certain. It is still painful knowing that there are worlds out there that has suffered this bloodshed and violence. Unfortunately, as Gwen as told me before, we can only observe the train-wreck mess of your world; if we try to intervene for the greater good, the timelines will be rather botched! Botched! At the same time, maybe Fate can do it! Perhaps Fate, that is our very own Gwen herself, can turn back the time and prevent all of this from happening. Still, this is one heck of a historical mess that we probably should think over before intervening. I am unfortunately negative because of the suicides. Asta e o prostie grea!

Learning about their evasion of the nuclear bombardment (which didn't happen) by means of a mass suicide, the Valentians seriously realised, for one of the first few times, that this could have been them. Rest in Peace.

Branding himself as the defender of humanity, 'Virtually Immortal', a father figure to his troops etc really reeks of a person who could be secretly an egotistical bragger—but, perhaps, a coward. We happen to share many beliefs such as both being advocates of Rhine capitalism. Plus, she seems to like video games, so she isn't some stuck-up, half-assed, un-relatable leader like so many of my colleagues unfortunately are. "The sacred texts of Daemusari teach that life does not have inherent value, only unlife does. Therefore, the only value that a living person has is value they bring to the table. A worker is valuable because of the work they can do. A philosopher is valuable because philosophy is valuable. Neither of them are valuable for simply being alive, but because of what they can do. Both provide greater value should they become undead; the worker can work eternal without fatigue or exhaustion, the philosopher can explore philosophy far beyond the limited scope of a mortal lifespan. These same teachings demand that value be created where it can be.

As I see it, Ogata is a mere commoner with delusions of leadership, and is acting in opposition to the great truths that the Buried Lady has blessed us with. Her life has no value, because she is not creating value. Her adherence to a godless world is an anathema, and her independent spirit is not one easily swayed towards more useful areas. I dare say, she would have more value as my personal ottoman than as a leader. As the value of an ottoman is not derived from its ability to think or be alive, she would first have to die, something I would not be opposed to facilitating. As furniture, her body will provide more value and use than she ever did as a living person. I am certain that her long hair will be comfortable to rest my feet upon while I read, and her sturdy bones will give it structure. Not one to be wasteful, I would have her organs sent to practitioners of medicine for study and practice. Any leftover scraps could be used to feed our troops. EDIT:

"Still not quite a noble, though at least he is not a mere commoner, and he is at least useful. Weiss's willingness to use pragmatism is at least a redeeming factor with regards to him, even if he doesn't know the first thing about being an actual leader. Ideologically speaking, a bowl of noodles would be a better leader. I think he should have remained a businessman, personally. After all, democracy remains yet an unproven, populist ideology. Whether or not Weiss will prove more useful alive or not I shall have to see. What it comes down to is moral flexibility. A good leader must always be pragmatic, open to opportunities as they arise."

Her life has no value, because she is not creating value. Her adherence to a godless world is an anathema, and her independent spirit is not one easily swayed towards more useful areas. I dare say, she would have more value as my personal ottoman than as a leader. As the value of an ottoman is not derived from its ability to think or be alive, she would first have to die, something I would not be opposed to facilitating. As furniture, her body will provide more value and use than she ever did as a living person. I am certain that her long hair will be comfortable to rest my feet upon while I read, and her sturdy bones will give it structure. Not one to be wasteful, I would have her organs sent to practitioners of medicine for study and practice. Any leftover scraps could be used to feed our troops.

Even a rabid dog can be made useful, and Ogata is certainly a rabid dog."

EDIT:

"Still not quite a noble, though at least he is not a mere commoner, and he is at least useful. Weiss's willingness to use pragmatism is at least a redeeming factor with regards to him, even if he doesn't know the first thing about being an actual leader. Ideologically speaking, a bowl of noodles would be a better leader. I think he should have remained a businessman, personally. After all, democracy remains yet an unproven, populist ideology. Whether or not Weiss will prove more useful alive or not I shall have to see. What it comes down to is moral flexibility. A good leader must always be pragmatic, open to opportunities as they arise."

"We have a little vampire here, those bastards are very nasty, I know it from experience as I've seen them clean up whole towns in a few hours, this Mukuro doesn't look any different from the ones I've found, She's powerful, repulsive and arrogant, luckily for me a bullet well placed in the heart can end most vampire related problems"

"Hello there, sir! I'm impressed with your general temperament with but one minor exception. It seems to me that you're mayhap a bit quicker to the trigger than would be prudent. I've often held that the sword is a poison, and reliance on it slowly destroys your capacity to resolve problems in a more creative and lasting fashion. I would argue that merely killing those who wronged you did not serve to bring true justice upon them." - KazRamael

While these... people are godless I can not speak on their policies. They are hopefully to allow the worship of something other than the status quo and the state. May God liberate their culture. other than that my view overall neutral if not slightly positive. - James V of Antioch
