Yeah, it was 4/5. I prefer traditional/old school take on things. Not too big into experimental/avantgarde.

At this point, we've pretty much proven that not only can evolution happen, it pretty much must happen since it's basically impossible to prevent it from happening.

As for how I consider The Meads of Asphodel to be the representative of experimental black metal like how Galaktic Cancer Squad is the representative of progressive black metal, Nokturnal Mortum is the representative of folk symphonic black metal.

My only complaint is I wish it were longer, as in 4 or 5 minutes long instead of 2-something minutes long. :/

Birdy-No Angel

My favorite songs of hers seem to be the mellow ones.

Birdy-All About You

No Angel captivated me when I first heard it, even though I don't listen it as much because that song reminds me of a sad thing that happened with a girl I once liked.

My favourites seem to be on the same category too, with the exceptions being Wings and Light me up.

Here it is.

For some reason the studio version sucks, but I like the live version. It is what I consider to be the best avant-garde black metal song (that I know of).

Anti-fascism is a common obligation for sensible citizens of modern countries. But why was the term stolen entirely by anarcho-socialists?
