"I have a mostly mixed opinion on Mr. Friprice Hjálmarsen. While I couldn't find out a whole lot on him, I see that some of his policies are credible, and others, not so much. He seems nice and I commend him on his irreligious perspective, but I find that his politics are a bit to far to the right"

"I suppose Anatoli and I would have an excellent debate over politics, and our political science backgrounds are similar...other than that, well, many of his ideologies do not align with mine. For instance, I support a market that is relatively free with some restrictions, and I am not about to ban automated vehides from my nation. And compulsory vegetarianism? No; it is not the job of the government to dictate the diets of its citizens. Of course I support same-sex marriage--everyone deserves the freedom to be who they want to be and love who they want to love--but, politically, Anatoli and I are not the same. I do have a shorter commute to work than he, certainly, as my office is in the palace."

The Statement on Rowarin

"A world stuck in the middle ages, with no modern ideologies and old fashioned ruling style? Wew lad, we are off to a great start, and just when we thought that the status of developing country was bad... Well, so far he doesn't seem like the bad guy, perhaps let's check what he has to offer to the world."

"Not much is known about his backstory, but it seems that his lifespan is longer than that of a human, and that he had a career of a blacksmith - khm, interesting. And now to the juicy stuff - policies. The Isolation law sounds like a pretty reasonable approach, just also keep contacts with a few allies in case if a threat larger than expected comes. Free Reign Law is too decentralist, as state needs to act in an unitary manner. That said, the hunting law... That is going to become an issue if the population of his country is starting to grow, because unrestricted hunting of all but one species sounds disastrous for environment. Overall, we are positive on him, but there are a few things which don't stick out in the best light."

OFFICE OF THE PREMIER

Regarding Reichskanzler Theodor Freiherr von Hartmann,

I write this letter while drunk and deranged, addressed to the mainland Frenchmen of Europe who still believe in the Church.

Hic-

Germany must perish, and Reichskanzler von Hartmann with it. Herr von Hartmann is a limiting factor on the German people's potential for war. von Hartmann weakens his nation as the Francophone grows closer to God and Tradition. Let the Francophone community unite and strike at the heart of the nation of black while von Hartmann leaves his people defenceless and crippled in a democracy that he himself acknowledges is a weakening and unstable force when 'tempered with constitutional pillars'.

I read about the War the Vendée and I recall that Republicans both in within and abroad are enemies of the French. From the seat of Montreal, let us unite in war against the Republic. First, we cleanse Paris with fire, then we 'crash' the democratic Reichstag to ashes.

At the end of it all, we can thank Reichskanzler von Hartmann. Let's be determined, let's destroy Germany.

~ 24th Premier of Quebec, Reverend Cédric Lé sage.

Look, there is nothing wrong with nationalism in and of itself, but fascism in any form is fascism. The Premier may cause the outside world to view Catholicism negatively...which would be...bad."
