Hello, new person!

That's because they're doubleposting, ie replying to someone who just replied to them; not something particularly liked in these parts.

The act of posting with only 1 other poster inbetween, essentially reacting to the guy who reacted to your post. This is seen quite negatively and should not be done, as it is rather spammy. Please do not do that.

If they don't do it, then I would not need to skip.
