AN: Do they even have a leader? I can't find a factbook for one, so all I'll say is replace the words Monarchy and Matthieu XV with Republic and Leader in the above paragraph for context.

Re-Edit:

"If Mr. Vindaball II was to meet Fredereich Kamplehofk, they two would bond very well. A good thing? No. The fact is, while Vindaball II has created a superpower economy, civil and political rights have massively suffered. Was the trade-off worth it? Some (like Kamplehofk) would say yes, but many, and me being among them, would say no. Henceforth, while Vindaball II has certainly done some good, the harms oughtweight the benefits.

Shame. It seems Klara wishes to bring equality to her countrymen. Yet, like most democracies, the government cares only for the next elections and preaching to Wall Street. Votes and pleasing their corporate masters is all that matters to them, not whatever, Klara, wishes to happen for the better of all the country. Her intentions will and probably already fallen on deaf ears. If she seeks to bring about the greater good, she must abandon faith in the Democratic system, it has failed and will always fail. She must find backers and establish herself as an Autocrat to truly have the power to implement the legislation she's been fighting for, however, this'll never be the case. Klara by information given to me seems blind to believe that democracy is only way to bring good to the nation, when reality says otherwise. My overall assessment is neutral. Klara means well yet is misguided on picking the right path to make her wishes come true.

Rapture City

- In the underwater city, two roles have emerged from the City's ongoing civil war: the City Monitors who defend the peace and the Red Caps who fight against unjust systems. The city's infrastructure is crumbling under its own weight and kinship is snuffed by the paranoia of totalitarianism. Yet the people would be in for a surprise as their virtual overlord have died many years ago as the oppression continues under his name...
- Not an 1-1 exact replica of Bioshock lore and Rapture City. Only the city's atmosphere and setting is maintained.

"Once upon a time, we too had a monarchy...and it got abolished. Why? No better example is needed than this Matthieu XV. He has created a nation where fear is prevalent, and any political opinion besides the one promoted by the government is the wrong one. Now while I do respect foreign nations and their cultures, to see human suffering is despicable, and unacceptable. And while some would call this criticism unjust, it frankly isn't. One may run their nation as they see fit, but the opinions of others will remain."

He's referenced plenty outside of the textbooks, such as FCN Rps. His name is Vindalbal II, head Vincarist of the Nationalist Vincaracy of Gladesville.

One of the few nation's with a frightening economy, without a single car. One of the most developed nations, but our government is corrupt as fridge. Tourist hot-spot, but the ruler Vindalbal II refuses to even put basic footwear on. Environmentalist, Nationalist, Vincaracist, Gladesville. PewDiePie is also a nasty person.

"Ah, yes, this cretin, yet another narcissistic abhorrence from the Rapture Republic. I always find myself questioning if there is any normality from that godforsaken city at the bottom of the ocean, but, as per usual, the questions are either 'No' or they are usually left unanswered. Dominic Stone is simply a pawn for his so-called 'Creator' to play with; another self-absorbed person with a fetish towards all things related to capitalism and such. Personally, looking at the dossier that I have obtained on information regarding you, I will have to say that I, along with the rest of the Valentians and namely Valentijn, would be more inclined to support Rapture if you are the one in charge. I am not the one to support the schools that work on the Survival of the Fittest routine, so that is something that concerns me. The things you have done to Lowian workers is something I won't wish upon my worst enemy, and you are certainly cruel, with that tactic. But, I am glad that you have went through that, but I am not sure if this should be for everyone. With that said, we have some differing opinions, but we seem to be either neutral or positive on things like Environmentalism, so there is something going on between us. I wish you a good day, and I will have to say, out of all the people we have encountered, you are probably one of the more rational persons from Rapture that I might have the pleasure of meeting. Well, relatively speaking, still.

So, this barbarian is the foundation of the dying beastly Lowian "culture"? I thought it would be more fearsome and terrifying like the droids saw during the invasion. I guess not, shame, but still, this thing created a land of savages that had only now be liberated and in the process of transitioning to join the light of civilization or merely just Aquarian civilization, as we march to purify the world from it's decadence. Nevertheless, the barbarian will be forgotten as my assimilation faculties kick up the pace and destroy whatever garbage the species supposedly identified as. Soon, they'll only be known as Aquarians and nothing else.

"Ah, il robot, Clarissa. I've been intrigued by her for a while, and I do hope we can interact in the foreseeable futuro. That's if, of course, would let me even approach her, because my past actions as il Presidente di Stanier unfortunately precede me. But rest assured, I am not the fascist the newspapers denounced back in the day"

"Hey doc, you wanna know something...? I'm too intelligent for this shit!"

Takes a puff and stands up "Oh yeah, a genius"

- Lance "Ryder" Wilson, Chief of Public Relations of Cluckin' Bell, holding and smoking a blunt of his beloved "water"

"Signore, non interessa how intelligent you are, you still have a drug addiction"

"It ain't me, fool!"

"Antimonos II supposedly holds democratic and progressive values. But he hasn't excersized them at all, and still his country only is partilay free. But I won't debate the fact that he means well, just that is hasn't been implemented."

-Klara Schmitt-Hendston, Monsonian PM.

"Hmmm, I see Schmitt-san has a vision for her country, and I can also see she is willing to rely in others to attempt to make that vision come true, as shown by the fact that Schmitt-san made a coalition deal with the opposition. Now, while I personally see the move as too weak and pitiful, I also have to understand her circumstances. She doesn't have my... Persuasion skills, neither will Monsone's legislature throw a bill back into the drawing board unless it passes with a simple majority, and so I won't look down upon her... Much" Stands up and kicks something under the desk "Now. WOULD YOU STOP SQUIRMING?! I AM TRYING TO CONCENTRATE HERE!"
