I mean, we can actually create a mathematical definition for evolution in terms of the evolutionary algorithm and then write code to deal with abstract instances of evolution, which basically equates to mathematical proof that evolution works. All that remains is to show that biological systems replicate in such a way as to satisfy the minimal criteria required for evolution to apply to them, something which has already been adequately shown time and again. At this point, we've pretty much proven that not only can evolution happen, it pretty much must happen since it's basically impossible to prevent it from happening.

Okay, now this band seems to be getting better. I thought they were good but when I was listening to them before they weren't keeping my attention enough. But this song is awesome.

I mean, dat pause moment at 5:30

Considering we were on page 409 when I said "Let's make it to the end of the thread by the end of August!", yesterday, and we're now on page 416, I think we'll make it.

Caspian-The Dropsonde

Dude, this band really hit a high point all of a sudden. Maybe I need to listen to the start of the album again....
