Um, who really cares? It doesn't make you any cooler because of it.

If we want to go down that route though, I've listened to Turkish 70's rock.

Edit: That song you posted has 600,000 views. That's not even that underground so I don't see where you're trying to get with that.

Not really. It is the Internet. Sarcasm is hard to detect from people being actually serious.....because well, people are serious about some crazy things.

Nice. I grew up in the 90's too, but uh....As in, in the year 2000 I would of been 6. So yeah....Me and music back then? I just liked what my parents liked. I still do in some ways, because my parents helped me have a varied music taste instead of just listening to classic rock or modern pop music, but my music taste has evolved even more because I love music and listen to new stuff all the time.

I mean, we can actually create a mathematical definition for evolution in terms of the evolutionary algorithm and then write code to deal with abstract instances of evolution, which basically equates to mathematical proof that evolution works. All that remains is to show that biological systems replicate in such a way as to satisfy the minimal criteria required for evolution to apply to them, something which has already been adequately shown time and again. At this point, we've pretty much proven that not only can evolution happen, it pretty much must happen since it's basically impossible to prevent it from happening.
