OOC: I am gonna do this Polska. He deserves better.

"Alright dudes, time to give my statement about ol' Roman Kor, military dude with strong communist feelings and beliefs, the one, who aligns with the red bear, and then one, who creates prosperity for Polish people with one hand, and harshly suppresses dissenters with another. His methods might have helped his country, but I disapprove them. During his military years he mostly followed orders to oppress population, which is... not exactly noble. But still, at least he is sincere in improving his country and the lives for his people, even if his methods are misguided in our eyes. He seems to be more rational than many dictators and this is why we might not be friends, but still can cooperate against fascism.

We condemn his suppression of the people, but with the heavy heart have to admit, that he is far from the worst dictators in this world. And I am sure, that whenever his country encounters a fascist force too strong for them, he will be willing to overlook our market economy and my sexuality aspects and accept our help. Or maybe, he will not deal with us due to our semi-anarchist ideology? If so, worse for him.

So, in the nutshell, yes, he is pretty oppressive! Yes, we don't like many things he does! But he still has redeeming qualities within his soul. After all, despite all this shit, he did help Poland to become stronger and we have fascism as mutual enemy! So from pragmatic standpoint, cooperation is possible... Well, unless he says it's not. After all, our differences in approach to economics might be deal breaker for him. Which is not very likely, after all, he did trade with capitalists. So we might try to trade with him too... we still gonna ask him to be more forgiving and lenient on his people." -Overboss Shawn Bjornson

"What we got here... I've talked about this man a few times, but I'm gonna say again! He leads a god damn anarcho-imperialist rogue horde! The only things he brings with his barbaric conquests are destruction, corruption (spiritual), drunkenness, drug addiction and many other disgusting things like public orgies. But you are right. Monopolies are bad, especially private, but sometimes the state must control some of the economic aspects to not breed private capitalist corporate monsters for which only profit counts, not the welfare of the people. And no! I don't say that sex is bad. It's good when you use it properly. Your horde will fall sooner, or later, without any strong hand."

"On comrade Komissarov, well, I'm afraid I find him lacking in a similar manner to many of the self-proclaimed socialists that diluted the proletarian movement with their blatant revisionism and falsification. I've said it before and I'll say it again: 'market socialism' is not socialism. It retains enterprises, money, competition and so many other features characteristic of capitalism. If Komissarov and Karevka are supposed to represent the vanguard of socialism in their world, then the proletarian movement is doomed, reduced to merely a form of managed capitalism not unlike the social-solidarists. To be frank, I do not see much to admire or respect in Komissarov. The Karevkan revolution has decayed back into the grasp of capital, and he doesn't seem capable or indeed willing to restore it. Only a new revolution can burn away the bourgeois rot and reestablish socialism."

I don't even think you mentioned anything about their character save 'socialist dictator'. No talking about their qualities, their ideals, or the way they came to power. Damn, if you're going to come onto a thread about providing in depth examination of other people's leaders from the eyes of your own leader, you should probably learn to read first.

John Mercer...

This organic, judging by his many surnames, is one who thrives on change. The changes he acts upon are not always beneficial, but they are changes nonetheless. His paranoia led him to force his subordinate to become his decoy, and even to change his image once again to begin a civil war. His business practices were previously quite unsavory, but as I said before, Mercer thrives on change. Instead of using juvenile humans for experiments, he has now enacted regulations to prevent such an event from occurring as he had done it. He has even restructured Rapture's economy to aid the poor with a form of UBI, and created a comprehensive public education system alongside a National Youth Program. The man has even augmented his body for combat prowess, furthering his progress to becoming an immutable and superior machine.

I wish both the Iron Chancellor and the Rapture Republic a speedy advancement to the stars, so that Mercer may continue his agenda of change.

"Apparently, our preliminary forecasts about Mercer were somewhat incorrect. Despite all the reasons to oppose us, he wants to cooperate with us. If so, we can do that. I have some feeling about him, which is why at first, we will make a smaller, less important deal. A deal, where there will be several tempting deliberate opportunities to screw us over or infiltrate us... which are all honeypots. If he proves to be trustworthy, then we will continue and extend our cooperation further. If not... damages will be insignificant, but we will be warned.

Why do I want to approach him carefully? Cause he offers warm cooperation just like that, despite reasons to be against us. I mean, we are socially libertarian semi-anarchy, which will raid and fight other countries in the name of freedom. Kill slavers, loot their corpses and free the slaves! Halt genocides, and give war criminals committing them, good ol' frontier justice! Overthrow tyrants and give their people long desired liberty! For this is our cause! Besides, spymaster recommended caution.

We are still willing to deal with him from pragmatic standpoint, as Rapture might have interesting technologies, we could learn and reverse engineer. Neoners major faction gonna win a lot by dealing with him. Besides, he also improves lives for his people."-Overboss Shawn Bjornson

Interesting.

Very interesting.

It is like watching a plant grow. Hawkins cultivates within herself the fundamentals of her belief, an admirable drive for progress at all costs -- in doing so she transforms the mediocrity of her birth into something wonderful. The daughter of petty academics transmuted into an active revolutionary force, the spurring-forth of that radical tendency, so it may enshrine the world in its purple-tinted light. A wonderful thing. But I fear, I fret, I ponder; is there being fomented reaction underneath which may upturn Hawkins? Her insistence on maintaining the status-quo internally is underwhelming. One must first build-up that within on its constant evolutionary course before it can be expanded, emulated, and grown elsewhere.

There is no such thing as the status-quo, Hawkins! You have inherited and built something beautiful, shattered the wretched glass ceiling and gripped isolationism by its neck with steel resolve! Do not squander the fruits of your work, and instead go forwards both within and without! Let the world see that which is yours, that which was providentially thrust into your grip, and that which is yours to steer with total cognisance of that you have been owed! Do not cease, never cease. Keep moving forward!

Statement on the Reinkalistani President and General Secretary of the Communist Party Mozhkin Turaniski

Polish People's Republic
Jeszcze Polska nie zginęła!

Comrade Turaniski is a man that I believe I have already started building a bridge to through our cooperation with the legitimate People's Federation of Reinkalistan during their current Kaskian crisis, and he is a man that I have a respect for despite having 'inherited' his position. Having proven himself to be a capable leader and shrewd politician, he has certainly drawn the attention of the international proletarian movement, and is shaping Reinkalistan to be one of the foremost leaders of the world's communist parties. I have my disagreements with Turaniski's ideology and the concerning nature of his Lunacharsky-like party god-building based around a substantial misinterpretation of the base-superstructure relationship, but I do believe him to have the interests of the international working class at heart, and I support his fight against the foul imperialist puppet state that occupies a portion of Reinkalistan's northern territory. I hope that eventually Turaniski will come to his sense surrounding his bizarre experiment in religious consciousness, and it would be regrettable if Reinkalistan were to deviate too far from Marxism-Leninism and the wider proletarian movement.

If the Reinkalistanis would permit it, I believe that a meeting between representatives of our two nations will only do good for forwarding the interests of our peoples and of the working peoples of the world. It would be a substantial boost to working class solidarity in both Poland and Reinkalistan if a formal meeting were to finally take place between us. Stankowski has done a commendable job in fostering relations between our two parties, but I think that we should make a greater effort to stand together in these troubled times, especially as the dangerous Pan-Asiatic States attempts to seize control of the global socialist movement in favour of their capitalist hijacking that has so far claimed the Asian people's democracies. Global socialism must stand resolute against the Chinese, who have attempted at many points in the past to disrupt the relationship between the Soviet Union and the other people's democracies and socialist states. Economic liberalization is nothing but the enemy of all that we have achieved so far. It is for these reasons that I extend the friendship of Poland towards the People's Federation of Reinkalistan and towards Comrade Turaniski, as they are a key element in the fight for a better world; a socialist world.

It is with the genuine belief that Reinkalistan is fighting for the betterment of mankind that I support Comrade Turaniski and the people of Reinkalistan in their battle for the liberation of occupied Reinkalistan and the battle to protect the socialist world against the Dhoerish and Kayan menace that threatens it and prepares to march against it once again. Let us stand together in the march for proletarian freedom and the destruction of the archaic system of capital! When the European socialist movement marches alongside the Reinkalistani movement, then the whole world shall tremble in fear at the renewed strength of the working people! We stand at the tip of the spear for socialism in the world, and we hope that Reinkalistan will join us as the vanguard of the proletariat while the Soviet Union recuperates following its victorious thwarting of the Gorbachevite traitor bloc. Friendship between the nations of the world now and forever!

"This woman, this 'Jihye Yi', quite interests me. The Unified Communist Councils as a whole quite interests me. They are quite adamant on pushing anti-capitalist propaganda, they seem to idealize a failed system. And yet, whether it be a sign from god or just a stroke of luck, they have managed to stay afloat. In all my years, I have not once paid attention to such an...interesting group. However, as with all those who claim to be "for the people", I have my doubts. Many a time have I seen these sorts of nations oppress their own, all in the name of a proletarian utopia. I would like to make it clear, I do not hate Jihye Yi. I do not hate Yan Sooyoung. I believe it is at the best interests of not only myself, but all of Bractwo-Ojczyzna, to begin building up an alliance. We must push past ideology and truly recognize the positives of such an alliance. Although we may not be the strongest or the largest, we are devoted to defending our motherland. Just as I expect their nation are. Besides, we need some friends, right? I only ask but one thing, for them to confirm that they indeed do not violate basic human rights in their country. Then, the progress shall begin."

-- His Imperial Highness The Emperor of Bractwo and King of Ojczyzna, Piotr VII during a press conference regarding international affairs.
