I mean, we can actually create a mathematical definition for evolution in terms of the evolutionary algorithm and then write code to deal with abstract instances of evolution, which basically equates to mathematical proof that evolution works. All that remains is to show that biological systems replicate in such a way as to satisfy the minimal criteria required for evolution to apply to them, something which has already been adequately shown time and again. At this point, we've pretty much proven that not only can evolution happen, it pretty much must happen since it's basically impossible to prevent it from happening.

Sleepytime Gorilla Museum-The Creature

Possibly my favorite way of describing human and corporate greed, and one of my favorite songs that does that, as well.

There is a creature

*That has to feed
It stops at nothing
To fill its need*

*The people live in gruesome squalor
So that the creature may grow taller
Those with nothing have to bleed
To help the creature spread its seed
They learn to dine on fecal matter
So that the creature may grow fatter*

*The creature tells of evil gnomes
Coming to destroy our homes
And trolls who come with gun and knife
To threaten our way of life*

*The creature has enslaved our town
But no one thinks to bring it down
Provided with so much distraction
The people can't be moved to action*

*And when the people are all dead
Still the creature still needs its bread
When we've been sucked completely dry
The creature needs its food supply*

*A parasite cannot survive
Unless its host remains alive*

*It has amassed such awesome wealth
Maybe it can eat itself*
