Monkey 1248 was on their way back from Wall Street when they saw monkey 1249 slip and fall on a coin. Rushing over to pick up the coin, as the monkey bent over, they unfortunately did not see the out of control car ram them from behind at 60 mph.

Monkey 247 was driving the car that killed Monkey 1248. Still out of control, he careened into a bank killing seven people but no monkeys because you don't often see a monkey in a bank.

Monkey number 1244 was a renowned professor who had studied math, calculus, and algebra for her entire life to figure out the ultimate unsolvable problem: What is the answer to 0 divided by 0? 0, or 1?
They tried to stop her, but they couldn't; she was going to find out the secrets of the universe! After collecting her stuff and opening her door, she stepped out into the street and crossed the sidewalk before
A car zoomed by her, containing Monkey 1247 and Monkey 1246. Screaming and losing her footing, she faceplanted into the street before she was run over by another car. Her calculator and notes were also torn up.

Monkey 1233 vastly underestimated how dangerous the nation he was visiting was since he only read the introductory page and skipped the pages which actually contained information.

As a result, he was kidnapped by the local mobsters, who then shot him dead and burned his corpse after he spent a week in their custody.
