The Godulans held a romantic interest in the Chiss because of their warrior and tactical skills. After Sarathress became leader of the Godulans she united the two populations. I shudder to think the endless possibilities that an army that combines the Godulans ridiculously advanced tech with the Chiss' well known tactical expertise would present.

Did you ever hear the Tragedy of Big Brother "the Wise"? I thought not. It's not a story the Democrats would tell you. It's a Dystopian legend.

Long live to science! Long live reason!

The government of the Hobbes Dystopia is practically nonexistent, led by a sentient hivemind. Yet it bizarrely has actual political parties, in a nation that is clearly beyond needing parties.

Also progressive and futurist to a rather hefty degree, to the point of taking action against organised religion.

The greatest Asian meritocracy of the 2030's, run by NS's resident 20-something English aristocrat.

Their military has 3 on-going wars they are fighting so far: The Philippine Crisis, The Crisis in Sudan, The Alexandretta War, with the last one not having the "Current" tally for the time being, given the very recent nature of its occurrence. I reckon that it's also due to the lack of casualties.

I also love how Malayan Aggression for Singapur has absolutely 0 casualties. I mean... sure, there is the relative lack of engagement and the numbers, but even for 3000 deployed, you would think that there would at least be one guy who got friendly-fired. Ahh, such is the efficiency of the NGR Military, I do say!

The fact that Transport Reorganisation Act 2020 is a rather... blanketed one. It says it aims to reduce the polluting nature of it, and they are seeking for better alternatives, but I think they might be missing out on green vehicles.
