An invisible force catches the steel chair and throws it back at John Cena.

The events that transpired following the hurling of the chair are unknown, as all readings of T298376, the timeline John is currently in, were unexpectedly lost. Rumors among personnel persist that John hurled the chair back at the Invisible force, only for it to be thrown back at him, but so far, none of them were ever confirmed. T298376 will be subject for further scrutiny, staff members monitoring said timeline doubled, and plans for expedition attempts as well as rescue operations for Timeline Agents and Surveyors discussed with Operations Command.

Notes: What happened to T298376 is very similar to several other instances of Timeline Disappearance Events. this one is interesting though, as we haven't had a TDE in almost 19 years, but as far as I can tell, this particular TDE is just like the previous ones before it.

Eric's activities doesn't go unnoticed, because a day after the fiasco with the Fans Group, he recieves a letter from Dr. Herrera telling him to not fool around and to take his job as a Timeline Surveyor seriously, and that if he is caught doing something stupid like he had done the day prior, his job and position in the SPRC will be suspended indefinitely. The next week, Eric receives information that a Large Temporal Glitch has been detected in a empty patch of desert near his area, and he is ordered to assess the aftermath of the event once it's over.

Eric, none the wiser, decides to investigate the anomaly in the desert to prove himself to his manager as a good time surveyor. After packing his bags to check the situation in the desert, he discovers that the desert is Bir Tawil, an unclaimed land between Egypt and Sudan.

It turns out the desert has had a major time glitch where random people from multiple parts of different realities are being transported towards it, creating chaos in Bir Tawil.

Eric immediately with a task-force, launch an undisclosed capture of Bir Tawil to study it further for its time anomalies, he reports this to his commander.

After eating some candy in the back parts of the store, Man sees a vision of the 500th page of this thread; he sees multiple figures from history, from different timelines, reincarnations of himself...and others. He sees one figure above all though...the first man...the man who walked five feet.

A mass timeline recorection reverses the Spacetime Cataclysm Event that befell Reality R454, which has T24663 in it. Following SCE-R454, the SPRC is put on high alert, and a thorough investigation to find out who caused the cataclysm is launched by the Commission under Dr. Andrzej Czakowski's order, with the Temporal Security Force at the lead. Use of deadly force is prioritized to bring the omnicidal criminal and their possible acquaintances/associates to justice by any means necessary, dead or alive.

Meanwhile, Man #648 continues walking down the street.
