"HmMMM, you appear to be some sort of alien. You seem to have had a normal childhood and when you grew up, you decided to study at the most prestigious university in your empire. You must be very intelligent if you got in, but you couldn't attend because you were conscripted. Despite this, you managed to come out of it well and even thrived in war. I must admit I'm jealous of that; I found myself with a severe lack of military knowledge when I came to the throne, but such a thing would never be a problem for you, would it? But you suffered for that war, to the point where you're constantly dealing with mental trauma. I felt the same way when my family was killed, like I was sliding down a mountain and I'd just keep sliding unless I threw myself into my work. You seem to be a good ruler, Kamille and I think your people are lucky to have you. I wish you many years as Kmer"

(Dammit you beat me to doing their leader, No matter...)

In all honesty I cannot see how the Remulians got soo lucky with a tactical error like that, Nevertheless I must say that figuring out something like that indeed does take skill and effort and im willing to bet a nation using that same tactic would fall within a short amount of time.

As for non military related things I do not see anything out of the ordinary, It seems her political skills are that of a normal golden age ruler. I do not agree so much with the LGBTI getting rights thing but that is a personal flaw of mine.

I suppose I can admire him for wanting to serve out the full term of his predecessor rather than being forced out in a month. That's all that I have to say"

HM Pharaoh Nefertia of Kemet

A ruler who came to power due to a successful assassination plot? Although tragic political intrigue like that is something I live for. I am also surprised her line wasn't recently reinstated due to a freak event. I personally do not like the fact she has so many titles, Nor am I a huge fan of "Khemetism" but I am in no position to change anything right now.

"I must say that I am not entirely sure why I am being asked to present my view of a criminal, although I'll admit that they are certainly an unusual specimen. I've not encountered many dragons in my time, but I would have thought that having lived for seven hundred millennia and possessing great magical power I'd have found a better use of my time than managing some glorified thugs. Still, I see that your skills have served you well, considering the power and influence that you wield. Few crime lords can claim to have reached such heights, but then again they usually aren't magic dragons."

"Of course, I hardly approve of such actions. Professional criminality of this sort is a symptom of propertarian societies, only possible when socioeconomic affairs are based around private ownership. Capitalism provides an excellent environment for this sort of behaviour to thrive, but it has no place in socialist society. The dragon may be powerful, but even she cannot prevent the turn of history from rendering her enterprise obsolete."

"Who is this old boomer that has presented his face in the front of me? Zhao Xuefeng, what is this unnecessary emphasis on "Marxist"? What is "Marxist" with only labels "Marxist only?"

China is the revolutionary home of the world and humanity, having the most successful and advanced socialist dictatorship of the proletariat in history, the closest that the entire humankind had ever come to Communism! Under the leadership of Comrade Chairman Mao Zedong! Chairman Mao Zedong is the savior of the people and led us to liberation. Chairman Mao is like a sunshine, which lightens up the snow mountains. Making revolution depends on Mao Zedong Thought. Fish can't leave the water. Nor melons leave the vines.

And here, where is Chairman Mao Zedong? Where is the works of Maoism such as "On Contradiction" or the "Little Red Book"? None! Nowhere! Is Zhao Xuefeng a venerable follower of Mao Zedong and the glorious legacy of the CCP, or perhaps a follower of God forbid, Deng Xiaoping or Xi Jinping?

This is bourgeois revisionist rubbish. All of these foci on "transhumanism", genetic engineering, new technology, amounts nothing if the proletariat is not put in command and as Mao Zedong said, put "Politics in command"! Even the execrable bourgeoisie Elon Musk can do lots of the same bourgeoisie technological fetishism himself, and all it does is to preserve capitalism and imperialism! As Mao Zedong said "Politics in command"! Why is Zhao Xuefeng so afraid of Mao Zedong?
