No, I wouldn't. I trust neither the Hong Kong establishment or whatever government the AN user canonically uses given their willingness to live in the CSA.

This nation is not the CSA. I should put it into the signature, since apparently I'm going to have haters stalking me across every thread. (I mean, I don't think a American state stretching from the Arctic to Baja California was exactly what the OG CSA was going for, being a secessionist state and all) I also don't think the CSA had a syndicalist branch of government or direct democracy. (They did have elected officers and militias though. So, they get credit there.) Of course, people won't like the white nationalist aspects of the nation anyways, but the RCAS doesn't practice slavery. (I don't even see how it's viable in a modern industrialized economy anyways. Unless you refer to having non-sapient AI do heavy work as being 'slavery'.)

Also, the funny thing is that the CSA was relying on British support to win their war of secession against the Union.

No, I wouldn't. I'm an American first and foremost, though I do like aspects of Britain (Walkability, architecture, and foods/drinks. Yes, I actually do like England's cuisine.) That and the ardently monarchist values of the population would have me lynched there. Oh, and the government seems to be very authoritarian considering what they had planned for America in a previous post. I rather not be sent to a reeducation camp.

Actual AN: I'll pass. I don't think I'd be comfortable in a nation full of anthropomorphic animals.

Republic of Confederate American States and Syndicates

No, it is not the Confederate States of America. No, it's not the South either. SU stands for 'States and Unions'. The right acronym is RCAS. Please read the Factbook.
