Prison for a year.

Defaming your nation with little evidence to back up their claims, and stirring up actual, serious trouble domestically and internationally.

May range from public whipping to torturous public execution if intent is proven and resulted in massive disruption or loss of life.

Prison for a year if you come to Sealand. That and/or we make a big fuss to email companies and try to stop the criminal from doing such an action again.

A foreign terrorist mass-murders in various counties, including yours, then you find them in a country that isn't yours.

Medieval technology doesn't really allow you to quickly get in and out of someone else's country, so it'd very much be up to the other country to deal with the terrorist. Although, threats of economic sanctions (ie burning down their merchant's trade posts in my country) may be used to encourage the other country to deal with the terrorist.

If so, they are classed as POWs not criminals.
