It took me a moment to make the connection between Inkopolitia and Splatoon but once I got it I was quite amused.

They had a rather jarringly graphic independence movement from Peru, featuring r*pe and genocide. Not what I associated with Splatoon but hey, to each their own!

It wasn't an independence movement. The letters of Leopoldo I (The ones that involved r*ping and genociding Inklings) were discovered AFTER Inkopolitia took Lima.

They are the last bastion of true freedom and liberty in the world surrounded by three warring totalitarian superpowers on all sides. However, this is not deter the government from slipping into authoritative mindset to maintain its independence against these powers as the totally not Saddam leader has balanced the line between liberty and tyranny to keep the country from losing its way in a world full of darkness.

Rapture City

- In the underwater city, two roles have emerged from the City's ongoing civil war: the City Monitors who defend the peace and the Red Caps who fight against unjust systems. The city's infrastructure is crumbling under its own weight and kinship is snuffed by the paranoia of totalitarianism. Yet the people would be in for a surprise as their virtual overlord have died many years ago as the oppression continues under his name...
- Not an 1-1 exact replica of Bioshock lore and Rapture City. Only the city's atmosphere and setting is maintained.

Though a bit more than a third of their entire nation's populace (500 million people) are within the army reserves, only a bit less than 2M are active, of which almost a half is in logistics roles. Also, select juvenile delinquents may be used in penal units.

Their military uses an old battle rifle introduced in the 1960s. Despite being old it is said to be reliable and very favoured.

Everyone always uses the black market factbook...
