That their religion of Kabiism reveres Kabii as a good deity and bewares of Astral Birth, the malevolent deity. And yes, there is a schism of sorts concerning the color of Kabii: the Faylcan and the Frianese Kabiists, who believe Kabii is pink or blue respectively. I wonder if it's a Kirby reference.

Around the 50s, they've had a civil war which involved the Liberals, Communists, and Monarchists. Monarchists who wanted to expel the humans, communists who want to establish a Marxist society, and the Liberals who want to emulate America. At the end, the Liberals won and Tamakuni becomes one of Asia's Tiger Economies. Hmm, they seem like a Filipino expy but with non-humans and everything worked out in the end.

Interstellar Silver is a company that uses artificial intelligence for asteroid mining operations (with the extracted platinum introduced slowly to avoid crashing the market) and a moon base. They are also sending probes to Alpha Centauri.

- one could transfer the power of his enemies to himself
- the second could mind control with eye contact
- the last could turn into a powerful psionic entity

As the city of Miraito tries to leave up to the perception of the “Future Metropolis,” headquartering CFM (more prominent than in our timeline), featuring Sky Mile Tower and still maintaining a formidable hardware sector alongside software developments, the logo used on the Miraito flag, as confirmed by the player first-hand, is indeed based on kanji characters for “Future” 未来 .
