Nasum's compilation Grind Finale.

2 discs, 152 songs, 2 hours. That's all info needed.

Holy crap....

Sigur Ros-Eg Anda.

I personally think this film project Sigur Ros is doing is brilliant. They have come out with some great videos from it. There are going to be 12 films from what I've gathered, so they have to do some for songs they've already done as well. Well, the filmmakers do anyway. I'm glad some artists are still all into artistic experiments.

I've heard 3 Gorgoroth albums so far; Antichrist, Twilight of the Idols and Ad Majorem Stanley.

In order of preference Ad Majorem > Twilight > Antichrist

The first two are fantastic, I've gradually become less fond of Antichrist though, it's a bit...boring.

Ghosts of Light, Solfastir.

we, unlike the bourgeoisie, have nothing to lose and therefore our expression will be the only honest one, our words will be the only challenging ones and our art will be the one revolutionary expression. We need new noise and new voices and new canvases to become something more than the last poets of a useless generation.

Just listened to the album Pentagram. Wasn't too bad.

The Black Keys-Everlasting Light.

I really need to remember to show my grandpa these guys this summer. I think he'd dig them, because they pretty much are full of old-styled music, done in a modern way (And funny enough, I like better than pretty much all the old stuff). And they do it in a great way as well, and also seem to have a huge variety of music as well.
