5/10, can't be good or evil, since Switzerland is affected by the Neutrality Principle™, thus meaning it can never assume any position to the left of right of true neutral. However, due to the fact that no two aspects of a nation can be put in the same place at once, and good and evil in this model occupy the same place on the spectrum, Empirical Switzerland is at once every aspect of good and evil at once, as this means that its quantum state balances out at 5/10 for all practical purposes on a macro scale, though on a quantum scale Empirical Switzerland can be found on all part of the spectrum at once, and indeed has positive diplomatic relations with both good and evil nations.
