I mean, we can actually create a mathematical definition for evolution in terms of the evolutionary algorithm and then write code to deal with abstract instances of evolution, which basically equates to mathematical proof that evolution works. All that remains is to show that biological systems replicate in such a way as to satisfy the minimal criteria required for evolution to apply to them, something which has already been adequately shown time and again. At this point, we've pretty much proven that not only can evolution happen, it pretty much must happen since it's basically impossible to prevent it from happening.

Somebody mentioned Mike Patton, so here we go:

Faith No More - Get Out

I need to get to that soon...I know some songs I quite like from Faith No More. Though I'm trying decide what I want to go through. Not really into going through that Tomahawk album I started.

Yay for parental influence on my music tastes.

Screw it, I'm listening to it now.
