Anyway, I cerebrate you are a benevolent person in most of the aspects, at least from what I have read about you. Short, precise, and humble overall, perhaps there is such a hope in this place after all, to have the gratification of meeting a person such as yourself. "A mathematically capable sniper, one apparently addicted to verbosity. That is all that can really be said about her - at least with this information my agents have provided me. Although, that curious little detail, that regret for killing, that is something I can respect. I bear the scars of a murderer's assault upon me - I bear the scars of the actions of a callous monster who took everything from me - yet, even as I kill his fanatics, I still cannot help but feel hollow about it all. I am a principled man, I like to claim, yet all my arguments against Nicholas; are they all just hypocrisy? I think that is the mark of a good person: one who is forced to kill, yet still feels the guilt, and the pain that they have caused to others reflects back upon them. But who knows. Maybe I'm just making excuses. Maybe I'm completely misreading you. I suppose it doesn't really matter, does it? So who are you? Duke Alastair? Your portrait looks weird. Is that blood on your hand? Is that your official portrait? What kind of culture does your place have to have an official portrait that looks like that? Ok so you are leading an insurrection against the Irenton Empire. Your body has been broken and repaired by "cursed mutagens"... ok and you "have faced trauma in every moment of your adult life." Ok so no offense, but that's a bit dramatic for a bio. But hey, I give you points for perseverance. So what did you do more in your life... you accidently summoned demons who killed most of your planets population...

what? So of course the military has to solve this problem. Then you awoke in the Abyss and your hand got regrown, but now its also red. That explains the picture.

You wandered the Abyss around for millennia without any light, which bolstered your soul because... reasons... Hold on... let me check if I'm not reading some kind of fanfiction... nope, this really is what happened in your life. But hey, you eventually escaped and wound up on the "Throne World." I don't know why you need an entire world for a throne but why not. There are lots of planets anyway. So after escaping, you started an insurrection against the Empire.

So all I have to say is that I'm still pretty sure that I'm reading a Warhammer 40K fanfic. I'm not saying that all of the stuff you are saying is unrealistic, we know a few dimensions with psionics or magic after all, but its more like that some parts of your life reminds me of them Also I hope that you're alright, cause this fanfic bio ends with you and the emperor getting sucked into a Time Rift.

Its 2027, almost twenty years ago, a storage-facility with mysterious machines was found on the moon. These machines seemed to have the ability to open portals to other dimensions. In response to this, the United Nations created the UNEEU, or United Nations Extra-Universal Exploration Unit to see what the multiverse has for them, exposing Earth to many opportunities and dangers.

"Certainly this woman is out of one of those 'science fiction' novels! 'Natalie' partook on several missions that, especially with nowadays technology, would be almost certainly impossible! This 'First Hegemony' and this 'Core of the Universe' sound like they had come straight from the mouths of a neo-paganist! Which, judging by the other fallacies in this bit of information, confirms my latter suspicions... that this woman probably had been written about in a neo-pagan book of worship, serving as some sort of false prophet, and then her story was widely circled around the world with the premise of truth."

"There is sparse information about President Grinhild Roz to give a clear stance on her. But I suppose I can attempt to have something about Roz. I can gather about Roz that she is the first to hold a PhD in the academic field, which is quite impossible to believe is true. Additionally, Roz seems to favour wealth redistribution policies to benefit the electorate. However, I am not sure how that functions, and it could just be a scheme to sound nice, but that distribution is just going to herself and those within her circle. It would not surprise me if that were the case, as politicians are never above robbing and lying to the public. It is the unfortunate nature of the world. Otherwise, if one is to ignore looks, she seems to have served in the armed forces and not just have a certificate saying that she officially served for five years to become a Sergeant without actually doing that. I will presume that she did and how she was able to establish connections to get into the highest office where she can implement allegedly well-meaning legislation that isn't just sugarcoated kleptocracy. Overall, my stance is neutral."

So who do I have to give my opinion on next? Premier Khrashnov? Is this some alternative version of the Soviet Union? A bit like how Sveenen in one of the dimensions I know is also pretty similar to the Soviet Union? Oh well, so Premier Igor Sergovich Petrunko Khrashnov, that's a mouth full. So according to your bio, you were actually elected by the people, so that means that your country is actually democratic, unlike our former USSR. You were also apparently a good admiral. You are also known for hunting down corrupt officials and you gave evidence for "brubery Stalin has committed?" Oh, you mean bribery. You also replaced the previous genssec because the previous one failed to lead the country? Ok what? What does that mean? That can mean anything. Could you please elaborate on that. Do you have a longer version of your bio because this is too little for me to actually decide if you really are a good leader, or that this is all propaganda and that you are actually a corrupt dictator. I don't see much about leadership philosophy or policies, so I'm just going to go off of what's actually here. So you like exploring alternate universes, huh? I'd say we oughta compare notes, but I can't help but shake the feeling that while you're so busy poking through the multitude of alternate universes, you're actually just a bit myopic. Feels like an oxymoron, but hey, the universe is infinitely large and growing, so apparently reality is perfectly fine with contradictions. Props on the science background, believe me when I say it comes in handy when figuring out how to identify and account for physical rulesets that might not be conducive to sentient exploration. I mean, we found one universe where hydrogen naturally coagulated into little pink gumdrop-sized balls. By itself, this means little, but unshielded exposure causes organic tissue to fall apart as hydrogen tries to coagulate. Seems scary right? Wait until you take some of the gumdrops OUT of that universe! I don't want to spoil the fun, but we do call it 'Death Confetti' for a reason!" -Kal'Shazzar

Supercomputer Tom
Opinion on the Izaak
Status: Not Classified, for public's eye, if necessary

Ohh, hello! What do we have here? A Jewish partisan from Poland that fights against nazis that trample his homeland under their yoke? You are doing God's work, that's for sure - good luck with inflicting some serious damage to those German soldiers in your universe, as all of the dead demand justice for the crimes that those krauts have committed... There may be days when most of the things go wrong and there can be times of hardship, but it is important to keep fighting on. I am sure that Kovner from your universe would be very impressed with you.

My praises aside, let's look at the limited edition of the current intel that we have. Still a bachelor, I see? As for that bit about alcohol, I can understand why humans turn to it as a coping mechanism, especially if one has to witness something as terrible as holocaust, but excessive drinking is still bad, and I hope that you tempered on that habit after you formed your own partisan group - how is your best friend doing in the group, by the way? And of course, Izaak has flaws just like any human being: his recklessness can be particularly harmful when waging partisan war, and in case if he really is suffering from depression, leaving it untreated would definitely impair the leader capabilities at some point. On the other hand, finding an appropriate way for improving mental health during such conditions could be a difficult challenge. Nothing is known on his political views, but if he is pro-democracy, then we are going to have some problems. Overall, my position on him is neutral-ambiguous, and I will repeat the same thing that I said at the beginning - good luck with your battles whenever you go.

Otherwise, the computer is significant enough to calculate the necessity of a strong government to manage the distrustful citizenry. Although, I cannot say that his position as a stationary leader does well, sometimes, even when seemingly unnecessary it is best to take a direct approach to governance to remind those who's in charge, and what the agenda will be, and remain unalterable. I pray to the Lord above that through some divine mirade, they meet their timely demise. Hathian Prime's doors are closed to any of their leaders or government officials, and death awaits for those who do slip into our nation."

He follows a fake Christianity, That is already a point of concern. Moreover he is the supreme ruler of a Germanic vibe nation, I dislike the german rulers past Otto von Bismarck so I will treat him the same way, His origins seem to fit that of many other rulers that are considred "Supreme". There isnt much to dislike about him. Not alot to Like either, I guess will say I agree with his opinion on the rulers of the nation that came before him, I too despise them. There is also his stance on Communism and Religion which I agree with.

Wait there is something else I dont like... He supports Facism and Equality at the same time, A living breathing Oxymoron if you ask me. Facism and equality are complete opposites, You cannot be for both and make sense.
