i get irrationally annoyed at nations whose whole gimmick is that their citizens don't have civil rights. like, you really couldn't think of anything else to do? it's way too overdone and not even that fun to do smh

I think it'd be more interesting if they at least had more of a spin on it rather than picking from one of the following templates:

- Le epically zased fascist state
- Le hungry tools flag
- Le best Korea moment
- Le junta
- Le Islamic terrorist group

NS Cliche that I think has been discussed but it still annoys me!

The "everything is perfect" EU-style centre-left liberal MT democracies where nothing goes wrong, all cultures and religions live in peace and harmony, they've got a fantastic environment, stellar public services, taxpayer funded healthcare, perfect relationships with the rest of the world, a fair and honest electoral cycle (where no right-of-centre party ever wins) - all with less than 30% taxation.

I'm not annoyed at them because of their political leanings, or because they're MT democracies, but because they're so boring.

Over here, public transport is simply not a thing, unless you like rundown, overcrowded minibuses while being stuck in gridlocked traffic.

Too many MT nations, from what I've seen, and too many copies of the US and other countries.

FT is boring. PMT makes my brain hurt. PT also makes my brain hurt but for very different reasons.

But I will agree, the US clones are annoying when they are all idealized in one way or another. Ditto for most cloned nations.

I'll disagree. While the general ideas normally involved with FT often lead to the ripping of ideas from pop culture, its easy to put your own spin on it, and even then, you can still make new, fascinating stuff. Plus, it gives you a chance to run any nation style you want without constraint, even stuff that doesn't already exist. No need to examine history and geography and culture and religion, just do something!

I also don't see a lot of reason to stick to MT. Its the conservative way to RP, since it is in modern technology and times, and while that means it's safe, its been done far more across not just NS, but elsewhere. Sure, its easy too, but being able to wield technologies that some may have their heads spinning over is a lot more fun.

As for other tech levels, I think past tech is also an interesting idea... if its not within the last 122-ish years. Late 19th century is a bit iffy as well, but anything earlier than that and its cool. I'd actually like to see, maybe, some nations based on societies from BCE times.

Of course, I say this as an FT player myself, so obviously I'll side with what I have.

TL;DR: I'd like to see more than MT, past or future.

Every FT nation I've seen so far with few exceptions are such:

"Giga huge galaxy spanning empire that is perfectly idealized, nothing wrong, zero conflict, everyone is happy in this utopian empire with zero struggles and nothing to drive a story, assuming there is one, because everything is fine! Also everything's stupidly OP and we have a military bigger than our total population but everything is fine 🍷"
