Naturally, within North Germany there exists Prussia, and then there exists all else. That said, I'm intrigued by the new direction its history appears to be taking.

"Though Nymphonians do not adhere to any classical religions nor do they worship any ordinary deities, their connection to the Sympath and the collective power it represents is treated with a reverence that very much resembles that of a religion, complete with the complex structure of the clergy-like Prarthara, the goddess-queen Aphroarch, and a vast array of sacred traditions, rituals, and orthopraxes that are collectively identified under the umbrella term—largely constructed by foreign observers—of Sympathism. Within Neonymphonia, however, these are considered indivisible from the rest of Nymphonian culture, and that the status itself of being Nymphonian is accompanied by this distinct philosophy, ideology, and set of cultural practices."

Apparently they have a nuclear powered zeppelin, named after a band that named themselves after a mythical zeppelin which couldn't fly. Unusual, to say the least.

2289 A.D.

In the early 21st century Siberia was struck by a massive asteroid that brought untold devastation and the collapse of almost every government. An alien virus, capable of mutating its victims, was brought to Earth as well. Eastern Europe, Siberia, China and countless other regions fell to the mutant horde. Europe became a medieval landscape ruled by feudal lords. The Middle East unified into a single Sultanate over time and entered a golden age wherein they have learned to co-exist with mutants. The Americas, which have lost contact with the old world, have turned into a Mad Max hellhole.

Northern Germany is ruled by Kaiser Friedrich, the IRL Kaiser Frederick III who died two months into his reign due to cancer, but in this world he was successfully treated and survived to prevent the ascension of Wilhelm II when it did IRL.

Their world is in the Middle Ages, and the Old World is divided into semi-recognizable kingdoms and polities, as well as...unexpected additions. The likes of England, Francia, Castille and Portugal exist alongside what I assume to be a revived Roman Empire (in name), a 'Danubian Union', and a 'Sultanate of Istanbul', the latter of which I assume is some equivalent to the Seljuks and the middle of which I have no reference to judge.

The kingdom's name derives from a rallying call that protesters chanted in hopes of ending a hundred years war between the Anglonorse and Celtic kingdoms, with peoples from both kingdoms uniting and marching on their respective capitals to end the war.
